Missile Race Cutback Talks Set In Kremlin

LBJ Repeats Viet Bombing Policy, Is Mum On Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today he has gotten personal confirmation from Premier Alexei Kosygin that the Soviet Union is willing to begin discussions with the United States on possible ways to limit the spread of both offensive and defensive missiles.

Johnson, holding his second news conference in four days, said he had written Kosygin on Jan. 27 to propose that the two governments discuss a possible halt in the development of antiballistic defensive missiles.

He said he had received a reply from Kosygin that "confirms the willingness of the Soviet Government" to discuss possible ways to limit the arms race in both offensive and defensive weapons.

TALKS TO BEGIN

The President said talks will begin in Moscow, with Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson representing the United States.

He said he did not know what the course might be after that but emphasized that the United States will be discussing the matter throughout with its allies.

Johnson expressed hope the Moscow discussions would begin at the earliest possible time.

He was vague about when he received Kosygin's reply. He said he did not have that information at hand at the moment. The implication was that the Soviet premier had written him before today.

PRECEDES KENNEDY

Perhaps by coincidence, Johnson held his impromptu news conference a few hours before Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was to address the Senate on American policy in Vietnam. He said the United States has repeatedly expressed willingness to stop the bombing if Hanoi stopped its acts of war.

If the North Vietnamese are going to bomb Americans in Pleiku, as they did in the past, or mount a mortar attack against the U.S. base at Da Nang as they did last week, or "lob their mortar shells into the backs of our soldiers as they did yesterday" near the demilitarized zone, Johnson said, it is

Robert Kennedy Asks For Viet Peace Talks

Bids Johnson Stop Bombing In North

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy today urged President Johnson to challenge the Communist world's sincerity on peace talks by halting bomb raids on North Vietnam and offering to "negotiate within the week."

In a Senate speech, the New York Democrat said the rising costs of the war and its limited goals "compel us to embrace any initiative that may resolve this conflict."

Kennedy said the declaration of willingness to negotiate should be accompanied by an agreement that "neither side will substantially increase the size of the war in South Vietnam — by infiltration or reinforcement." This, he said, should be enforced by an international group.

'FINAL SETTLEMENT'

The United States then should "move toward a final settlement which would allow all the major political elements in South Vietnam to participate in the choice of leadership and shape their future direction as a people," he said.

Turning to the horrors of the war, Kennedy said:

"All we say and all we do must be informed by our awareness that this horror is partly our responsibility; not just a nation's responsibility but yours and mine. It is we who live in abundance and send our young men out to die. It is our chemicals that scorch the children and our bombs that level the villages."

Kennedy's latest critique of the Administration's handling of the war was certain to revive debate on the issue.

POLICY STATEHMENT

In the first policy statement for the record since the Gulf of Tonkin resolution of Aug. 7, 1964, the Senate Wednesday voted almost unanimous reaffirmation of support for U.S. troops in Vietnam and endorsed all efforts to end the war honorably.

Johnson was "pleased" with the declaration, White House Press Secretary George Christian reported.

The criticism Kennedy's "dove"—tinged views were likely to draw from conservatives, was foreshadowed last night when former Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, informed of the impending address, said:

"He's got one foot in his mouth. That will make two."

Goldwater was referring to Kennedy's implied suggestion a year ago that the Viet Cong should be recognized.

The Senate "sense of Congress" declaration was a compromise adopted 89 to 2. The dissidents were Senators Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Norris Cotton, R-N.H., who said

Marinite Is Killed In Viet War Action

Marine Lance Cpl. Larry E. Ross, 21, son of Mrs. Charles Smith of 153 East Kelly Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, was killed in action Tuesday in Viet Nam, the Defense Department announced today.

Corporal Ross was engaged in action near Quan Tri, near Da Nang, when he was killed, according to the telegram sent his parents.

A native of Montgomery, Ala., he had attended San Rafael High School during his junior and senior years and attended the College of Marin the fall semester in 1965 prior to joining the Marine Corps in December of that year.

In high school, he won two letters in baseball and also played basketball.

Te has been in Vietnam since April of last year. His last letter home, dated Feb. 13, just two days before his 21st birthday, said he expected to be transfered to Okinawa this month.

In addition to his mother and his stepfather, an Air Force technigal sergeant, he is survived by his paternal grandmother, Mrs. William Ross of Montgomery, Ala.

Ethics Group Sets Hearing On Sen. Dodd

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Ethics Committee announced today it will begin public hearings March 13 in its investigation of the financial affairs of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

The announcement was made by Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Vice-Chairman Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah.

They revealed that Dodd has rejected a stipulation of facts offered by the committee. They also said that the committee turned down a counter-stipulation offered by the Connecticut Democrat.

The charges against the 59-year-old senator—under investigation for more than a year—are that he pocketed for his own use some $200,000 raised at a series of testimonial dinners and other affairs.

The committee also has looked into allegations that Dodd may have used for his own purposes some $250,000 in contributions for his 1964 re-election campaign.

And the investigation has covered charges that Dodd sometimes charged twice and three times for the same air fares—billing the sponsors of dinners, the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, and his own campaign kitty.

The third major field, listed by the committee in an earlier announcement, includes charges that Dodd accepted the use of a car from a government contractor in his state.

Reds Lay Intense Mortar Barrage

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops, trying to knock out huge U.S. howitzers that have been shelling their homeland, attacked U.S. Marine artillery positions near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) last night with more than 1,000 rounds of mortar shells.

The barrage, probably the most intense of the war, hit near the village of Dong Ha just below the DMZ. One shell scored a direct hit on a bunker occupied by members of the International Control Commission (IOC) but did not hurt them. They fled 40 miles south to Hue today.

A spokesman disclosed today that thousands of more Marines had been thrown into battle in the area.

Maj. James L. Day of Barstow, Calif., commander of the 1st Battalion of the 9th Marine Regiment said his command post received about 90 rounds of mortar fire from Communist gunners who followed its path as it changed locations during the day.

The heavy fighting erupted as a U.S. spokesman in Saigon reported the U.S. and its allies killed 2,332 Communists in combat last week, making it the costliest week of the war for the Viet Cong.

DONG HA HIT
North mortar shells

The leathernecks have been fighting a reinforced battalion of North Vietnamese (more than 600 men) and today they moved into blocking positions aimed at cutting off escape routes back into the DMZ. If trapped, the Communists could be cut to pieces with artillery and airstrikes.

The primary aim of the Communist drive is to knock out the big battery of eight-inch American howitzers which can shell targets 20 miles away in North Vietnam.

Members of the ICC, made up of representatives of Canada, Communist Poland and neutral India, moved into the area to check reports of violations of the 1954 Geneva conference which ended the French Indochina war. In recent years there have been so many violations by both sides its work has been almost meaningless.

U.S. losses during the past week were 163 killed and 929 wounded, a total of 1,092 which surpassed the 984 casualty figure of the week before which included 172 Americans killed.

Reagan Sets $900 Million Tax Hike Bid

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan will propose next week a tax increase of almost $900 million, four times the size of the largest tax program ever before enacted by the California legislature.

Finance Director Gordon P. Smith, who gave the Assembly Ways and Means Committee a preview of the proposal yesterday, said the tax boost would have been even larger if it had not been for the administration's strict program.

SPENDING UP

Smith also disclosed that Reagan would have to increase his budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 by $326 million, boosting the spending program to a record $4.9 billion.

The tax program will include $120 million for property tax relief at the local level, Smith said. The money will be raised by the state but will be allocated to cities, counties and school districts to permit a reduction in property tax payments.

Reagan promised property tax cuts during his campaign against former Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Reagan had hoped that the reduction could total more than $300 million but he has said more recently that the state's fiscal condition would not permit relief of that magnitude.

NO WITHHOLDING

Smith did not spell out the specific taxes the Republican governor would request. But he ruled out the use of a payroll withholding system of collecting

Negro Lawmakers Rip Sen. Powell Unseating

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's Negro legislators expressed shock and indignation today over the unseating by Congress of Adam Clayton Powell for alleged misuse of public funds. (See story, page 10.)

Five of California's six Negro lawmakers, led by Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles, termed yesterday's congressional vote to unseat the Harlem congressman unconstitutional and an example of "hysteria and bigotry."

"I'm outraged and shocked that Congress would inflict such a severe penalty," Dymally told a news conference. He called it a "backlash against Negroes."

The legislators said they do not condone Powell's behavior but added they do not think his conduct should be a ground for his unseating — unless it is applied to all congressmen.

"We view racism as worse than living out of your district — or theft," said Dymally.

Dymally, California's first Negro state senator, said if Powell plans to run for reelection, he will go to Harlem on weekends to offer support.

Appearing with Dymally were Assemblywoman Yvonne Brathwaite, D-Los Angeles; Assemblymen Willie L. Brown, D-San Francisco; Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles, and Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles. Dymally said Assemblyman John J. Miller, D-Berkeley, had planned to join their protest, but was out of the area.

Powell Freed Of Damage Suit

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, deposed from his seat in Congress yesterday, was relieved today by New York State's highest court from having to pay $100,000 in damages stemming from a defamation suit.

The Court of Appeals reversed lower courts that had held Powell would have to pay the sum because he had tried to avoid paying another libel award by transferring property he owned in Puerto Rico.

A total of $156,000 had been assessed against Powell, $100,000 in punitive damages and $56,000 in compensatory damages, in addition to a $46,500 award to a Harlem widow who contended he had libeled her by remarks on a television interview in 1960.

The woman, Esther James, brought the second suit after Powell had declined to pay the original award for describing her on television as a "bag woman"—one who distributes payoffs to policemen.

Clark Claims FBI Already Had Cleared Suspect In JFK Plot

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen-designate Ramsey Clark said today the Federal Bureau of Investigation already has investigated and cleared Clay L. Shaw — a businessman in New Orleans — of any part in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. (See story, page 2.)

Clark made the statement to newsmen moments after the Senate Judiciary Committee approved his nomination to become attorney general.

Shaw, wealthy retired director of the International Trade Mart, has been booked on a charge of "conspiracy to commit murder" in the Kennedy assassination investigation being run by New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison.

In a brief corridor interview, Clark said the Justice Department knows what Garrison's case involves, and does not consider it valid.

He said Shaw "was included in an investigation in November and December of 1963."

"We have the evidence and we can assume what their conclusions are," Clark said.

"On the evidence that the FBI has, there was no connection found" between Shaw and the assassination of the president in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, Clark said.

"He was checked out and found clear? "Clark was asked.

"That's right," Clark replied.

Both the FBI and the Justice Department had previously refused to discuss the arrest of Shaw.

In New Orleans today, Garrison subpoenaed Dean Andrews Jr., an attorney who represented Lee Harvey Oswald after Oswald had a street brawl in New Orleans in 1963. Oswald is the man the Warren Commission named as President John F. Kennedy's assassin.

Garrison was not immediately available for comment on Clark's statement.

Naming College President Seen

The Marin Junior College District Board will probably name the College of Marin's new president tonight, according to chairman Robert E. Rogers.

The board meets at 8 p.m. in room G-3 of the physical education building. Naming the new president is not on the advance agenda, but Rogers said he believes the item will be added.

He said the board met in closed session for more than four hours last night, reconsidering three candidates, two from outside Marin County and one county resident.

One floor of the health center would be for parking.

JFK Plot Suspect Arrest Is Made

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison said he would file a bill of information today charging prominent civic leader Clay Shaw with conspiring to murder President Kennedy, whom associates said Shaw supported and admired.

Garrison ordered the 54-year-old former managing director of the International Trade Mart arrested late yesterday.

Shaw was booked three hours after his arrest was announced and freed under $10,000 bond.

The arrest of the silver-haired bachelor was the first since Garrison announced last month he was investigating the Kennedy assassination, but a Garrison aide said yesterday it would not be the last arrest in the case. Garrison said there will be "more (arrests) than most people expected."

Garrison shocked the world last month by announcing he had "solved the mystery" of the assassination and every persons involved would be arrested. He said the Warren Commission was wrong in concluding Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in the 1963 tragedy at Dallas. He has not, however, revealed any details of the alleged plot.

Shaw and a Saturn rocket plant quality control inspector, James LeWalle, 38, were subpoenaed by Garrison's office and told to appear yesterday for questioning.

Lewallen, who works for the Boeing Co. at the space agency's Michoud Saturn rocket plant here, was questioned because he once shared an apartment with a key figure in the Garrison probe, David W. Ferrie. He was not held.

SUICIDE

Ferrie, a 49-year-old pilot, psychologist and private investigator, was found dead in his uptown apartment Feb. 22. Garrison at first termed Ferrie's death suicide, but the coroner's office ruled death resulted from a brain hemorrhage. Garrison had called Ferrie an important witness in the alleged conspiracy.

Shaw, who was director of the Trade Mart from 1949 until his retirement in September 1965, refused to speak to newsmen after his release on bond.

Shaw was described as a "political liberal, very admiring of President Kennedy," by Jesse Core, who worked with Shaw at the Trade Mart in 1963.

Shaw said in an interview last week he saw Oswald distributing Fair Play for Cuba Committee leaflets near the old Trade Mart on Camp Street in 1963, but never met Oswald and had not talked to him.

Terra Linda Rec Board Probes Issues

Should the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District try to offer programs and classes to meet all demands of the community?

Should the district be compelled to let money be the yardstick on the operation?

These questions and others like them were discussed by the district board and about 20 residents who attended last night's board meeting, chairman Norman Gurin reported.

There were no decisions made, Gurin said, but everyone got a chance to express his views. One resident said the district has been "underselling" its programs and could have charged higher fees in many cases without cutting down attendance.

Directors emphasized a policy of no refunds on classes. The only exception is fees for swimming when residents move from the area before the end of the swimming season. Refunds are then made on a prorated basis.

Directors scheduled an adult dance at the center for 9 p.m., April 1, and agreed to discuss the swimming schedule and staff responsibilities at the next meeting, March 15.

Word Is Out Luci Nugent Is Expecting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It's finally official: Luci Johnson Nugent, the President's younger daughter, is expecting a baby this spring.

In what must be the worst kept secret since the Chief Executive said he would run for election in 1964, the official word seeped out last night that Luci, 19, was pregnant.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary, gave grudging confirmation of the forthcoming blessed event when she told a reporter who called about it: "I guess that's accurate."

But the word really got out earlier in the day when Mrs. Johnson, attending a luncheon given by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., on Capitol Hill, spoke of being "an expectant grandmother."

Luci was married last Aug. 6 to Patrick J. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., in a spectacular ceremony at Washington's Roman Catholic National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

SHINY QUARTERS

Trousers Play Key Mint Stealing Role

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It may go down in the annals of crime as "the baggy pants caper."

Officials at the San Francisco Mint—in a less euphemistic mood — called it downright thievery.

A U. S. District Court grand jury took the same view. It indicted two machine operators at the mint for stealing 578 shiny, new quarters and 200 coin blanks.

The trousers of the suspects played the key role in the theft, according to Secret Service agents.

Lee Bedgood, 32, of Pacifica, Calif., got his loot out of the mint by taping $50 in quarters to each leg under his pants and by hiding $44.50 in quarters in his large tobacco pouch, the grand jury was told yesterday.

Co-worker Nicholas W. Sagin, 30, of San Francisco, merely stuffed 200 coin blanks in all of his trouser pockets and strolled out of the mint, according to the indictment.

Thomas H. Hanson, special agent in charge of the Secret Service here, said his office has been investigating losses from the mint for about four months —ever since it was rumored new quarters were being offered for sale locally at a 10 per cent discount.

Hanson said he did not know what the losses totaled, and a mint official would only say they were "considerable." However, the U.S. attorney's office said last year's losses were about $15,000.

The mint, located in downtown San Francisco, has been making coin blanks for several years but resumed stamping out coins only last year.

A spokesman at the mint said the losses were detected by comparing the weight of metal as it arrived at the building with the weight of the coins shipped out.

Repairs Completed On Dipsea Trail Section

New steps on the Dipsea Trail from Cascade Drive to Millside Lane have been installed, Mill Valley Public Works Supt. Ross J. Benson reported yesterday. Cost of the concrete and wood steps was $670 for materials, he said, with city crews doing the work.

The upper sections of the trail, partly closed, will be replaced this summer if included in the 1968 budget, Benson said.

Public Urged To Play Bigger Planning Role

Citizens should participate in general planning and "say what they want to happen."

This wa sthe advice of John Hirten, executive director, San Francisco Planning and Urban Renewal Assoication, at the annual meeting of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs last night.

Citizen participation also was advocated by Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker and by N. Robert Heyer, former Mill Valley planning commissioner, before about 70 persons at the Civic Center.

ANOTHER VIEWPOINT

"The public has to participate," said Zucker. Citizens can be msot helpful by providing another viewpoint, he said.

Heyer said Marin has an enlightened board of supervisors and "an expert group of planners," but a general plan "won't be good enough if we don't participate as citizens."

Planners and citizens should work together "so a plan can be collaborative," he said.

The association's program said the discussion would concern preparation of a general county-wide plan, and a theoretical framework for citizen action.

RECEPTION DOUBTED

Zucker said he was not certain That many in Marin would accept the idea of preparing a county-wide plan.

"We've been working on preliminary outlines in case anyone wants to do one," he said.

One of the difficulties is that the county, 11 cities and "a raft of special districts" would have to participate, he pointed out.

Hirten said residents don't have to "dabble" in details, but should participate in the "big things." Marin has certain "natural treasurer" that "shouldn't be lost under any circumstances," he said. But the problem has been to get expression from residents.

"Somebody has to speak for the mass," declared Hirten.

LONE SPOKESMAN

Zucker noted that at a recent meeting of supervisors there was a proposal for the county to buy "scenic land on the bay," but the only one there to encourage the proposal was Pierre W. Joske, county recreation director.

"One of the problems is that the citizens and professionals talk different languages," said Hirten. There also is a conflict of goals when there are differing interpretations "of what's good for the human animal," he said.

NEW DIRECTORS

Ten new directors of the association were elected: Richard Adams, Belvedere; John Bodo and Mrs. N. Robert Heyer, San Anselmo; Harvey Bragdon, Mill Valley; Charles J. Hendrickson and Jack Schoop, San Rafael; Mrs. E. F. Pierce, Corte Madera; Marett Boissevain and Junius Thomson, Novato, and Mrs. Robert E. Mertle, Santa Venetia.

Re-elected were Mrs. Herbert Appenzeller, Leland H. Jordan, and Walter R. Zurcher, San Rafael; Mrs. Alfred Azevedo, Tiburon; John W. Traffic Record Protection Asked income taxes.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two Negro legislators from Los Angeles proposed today to make it illegal for an employer to question an employee about minor traffic records or arrests.

Bills by Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally and Assemblyman Bill Greene, both Democrats, would make an employer guilty of a misdemeanor if he questioned an employee — or job seeker — about misdemeanor traffic convictions or arrests that didn't lead to felony convictions.

The legislation also provides that a person's arrest record may be destroyed if he isn't brought to trial or is acquitted.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post predicted the state could increase revenues by $203 million by adopting a withholding plan. But Reagan previously had rejected such an approach.

Smith said the administration failed in its efforts to cut spending by 10 per cent. But he said the effort was worthwhile and resulted in "substantial economies" even though the 10 per cent figure could not be reached.

The governor submitted a $4.6 billion budget Jan. 31. It represented the money needed to continue present programs less $216 million in undetailed cuts. Smith admitted yesterday that $55 million of the cuts would have to be restored.

He said Reagan will also ask for these increases in the budget:

1. $38 million to make up for revenue which the governor's University of California and state college tuition plan, dead for this year, would have raised.
2. $35 million to continue a year-old program of aid to low wealth school districts, and $50 million in increased aid to the public schools.
3. $99 million to overcome deficiencies in the Medi-Cal program of medical aid to the indigent.
4. $10 million in increased teachers retirement benefits.
5. $39 million in additional pay increases for state employees.

Gas Leak Said Not A Hazard

Gas has been leaking from a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. line on Palm Avenue in Corte Madera for several days, but the leak is not a hazard, according to Gene A. Malkemus, district gas superintendent of Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Malkemus said the company has been working on the leak for several days, and the line from which the gas is leaking is to be abandoned in a few days, so not more gas will be pumped into the line.

Seven School Board Contests In Offing

Contests were assured in only seven of Marin County's school districts today, with deadline for filing of candidacies for the April 18 elections approaching at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

A contest developed in the Bolinas-Stinson School District as Mrs. Edith N. Sarraille, a housewife of 80 Crescent Avenue, Bolinas, filed her petition of candidacy at the Marin County superintendent of schools office. Arthur E. Carpenter, an incumbent, and Craig A. Hansen had filed earlier. Two trustees are to be elected.

A contest developed also in Marin Junior College District as Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy, who has served on the district board since 1958, filed her petition for re-election. Already in the race, with four positions to be filled, were Edward K. Wachsman, Harry J. Moore, F. J. Picchi, and incumbent Thomas F. Skornia.

Also filing today was Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr., incumbent San Anselmo School District trustee. The other San Anselmo incumbent whose term expires, Cornelia J. Busse, had filed earlier. No opposition has appeared.

Besides Bolinas-Stinson and the junior college district, contests are assured in Mill Valley School District, with three candidates for two openings; Novato Unified School District, with seven for four; Reed School District, with three for two; Sausalito School District, with three for two, and Tamalpais High School District, with three for two.

only fair that American forces "are responding, will respond and will continue to respond."

Perhaps with Sen. Kennedy in mind, Johnson cited a 1961 memo to President John F. Kennedy by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor that presented recommendations for U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The President said Taylor emphasized that his proposals were not necessarily "the final word" — that it might become necessary later to attack Communist supplies at the source.

Johnson was asked about two other topics much in the news:

Declining to comment on the House vote unseating Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., he said, "It is a matter for the members of the House, reserved to them by the Constitution."

The President reported that all he knows about the investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison in New Orleans has been gleaned from newspapers. Even so, he said, referring to his past statement that he saw no reason to reopen the Warren Commission investigation of Kennedy's death, he knows of "no reason to change anything I have said."

Most Favor West Marin Water Plans

Almost all of the 60 people attending last night's public hearing on the annexation of a large area in Inverness and Point Reyes Station area to the North Marin County Water District at the West Marin School favored the annexation, reported Jerome B. Gilbert, district manager.

Only two or three spoke against it, but most of those asking questions were concerned about the cost of bringing water into the area, Gilbert said.

The water district board took no action. The annexation will probably come before it at its meeting next Tuesday or in two weeks, according to Gilbert.

By the time of the deadline at 8 p.m. yesterday for filing protests, the district had received protests from 14 registered voters out of 700 in the 9,300-acre proposed annexation, said Gilbert.

"It would require 10 per cent or 70 of the registered voters to require an annexation election," Gilbert said.

The annexation had been proposed to the North Marin District by a petition with 70 signatures after the North Marin district annexed an area around Marshall and started a study on providing water there.

Arnold Heise, president of the board who presided at the hearing, told those questioning the cost that the district could not spend money on an engineering survey until the land was annexed without a cash contribution from the area.

$60,000 Federal Fund Grant For Del Mar Library

A federal library grant of $60,000 has been approved for Del Mar School in Tiburon, Supt. H. Joseph Edgington of Reed School District reported today.

The funds will pay for 5,500 books, 15 periodical subscriptions, 200 pamphlets and documents, 50 16-millimeter films and 50 8-millimeter films, 1,200 film strips, 200 tape and disc recordings, sets of slides and transparencies, Edgington said.

Balance of the funds will be used to catalogue the equipment and materials.

Construction expense for remodeling the library plant will be paid by the school district. Edgington said remodeling is scheduled to start this summer.

they were simply against any congressional policy statement.

It laid out three principles:

The firm intention of Congress to provide "all necessary support" for U.S. military forces in Vietnam.

The Senate support of "efforts made by the President of the United States and other men of good will" for an honorable peace settlement.

The Senate view of the Geneva Conference agreement of 1954 as a suitable framework for settlement and urges its reconvening.

Wegmann, told a newsman he was "very pleased to hear what the attorney general has to say. We agree with him wholeheartedly. In due course, Mr. Shaw's innocence will be reaffirmed."

In New York, the commission's former chief counsel, J. Lee Rankin, said that "as far as I know we've never heard of this person (Shaw)."

The Warren Commission, in its report on the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination, said Andrews — now an assistant district attorney in Jefferson Parish, La. — testified "Oswald came to his office several times in the summer of 1963 to seek advice on a less than honorable discharge from the armed forces, the citizenship status of his wife and his own citizenship status."

The Warren Commission also said Andrews "believed" someone had called him Nov. 23, the day after the assassination, to get him to represent the accused presidential assassin.

But the Warren Commission said it could locate no records of Oswald's visits "and the investigation has failed to locate the person who supposedly called Andrews on Nov. 23..." The report said Andrews was under heavy sedation at the time.

Thieves Get $1,200 Loot In Homestead

Burglars interested in jewelry and money struck at the home of Delia Garnica and Louella E. Mead at 420 Panoramic Highway, Homestead Valley, making off with loot worth over $1,200, sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said entry was made by forcing a locked door.

The victims said two sets of earrings, five rings, a gold watch case, a white gold watch, a $400 portable radio, a pearl necklace, $20 cash, and a piece of jade setting for another ring were taken from bedrooms.

John S. Hall, 220 Richardson Drive, Strawberry, reported intruders entered his home by removing a screen and stole a $600 mink coat, a $125 cashmere coat, two other coats of undetermined value, a transistor determined value, a transister radio, and a $15 ring. A mink cap owned by Mrs. Hall was taken, but later found in the driveway, officers said.

Michael Ansel, 85 Marin View Avenue, Mill Valley, told deputies someone jimmied a door and stole seven rings, three wristwatches, a pair of binoculars, and a .22 caliber pistol.

Burglars also entered the home of Arthur L. Madden, 195 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow, but apparently were scared off before removing items they had stacked inside the house, deputies said.

They said Ronald Giorgi of Fairfax stopped by Madden's house saw a rear window had been broken. He investigated and found jewelry and glassware stacked inside. He saw no one flee, however.

Peter Greenfelder of Muir Beach, a manager for the teenage band, Tiny Hearing Aid Co., told officers someone forced the front door of Muir Beach Resort ballroom, stealing $1,000 worth of the bands equipment including two amplifiers and two speaker systems.

Patricia R. Monahan, proprietor of Mutts of Marin at Strawberry Town and Country Village, told officers burglars force the upper half of Dutch doors of the firm and stole an undetermined number of dog leashes and collars.

Burglars entered an open kitchen window of Mrs. Judy A. Conrad, 49 Cole Drive, Marin City and made off with about $1 worth of empty soft drink bottles, deputies said.

Herman S. Meinberger, 2 North Ridgewood Drive, Kent Woodlands, told officers someone unsuccessfully attempted to pry open a door of his home.

Cerebral Palsy Drive At Two-Thirds Goal

The 1967 mail campaign of United Cerebral Palsy of Marin has produced $6,600 so far toward the goal of $9,000, it was reported today by John R. Lee, vice president and campaign chairman.

Contributions are somewhat greater than last year's at this date, Lee said. The organization needs more money this year, he said, to start new assistance for the cerebral palsied and their families as recommended in a Marin survey last year by the national United Cerebral Palsy organization.

Photos Turned Down

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state Assembly denied permission yesterday for a commercial photographer to take pictures of members while it was in session. The Capitol Correspondents Association, which accredits press to the floor, had objected on the grounds that the working press now is not allowed on the floor to talk to members while the house is in session.

Rock Files Large Wilson Case Suit

Richard Rock of Mill Valley, once charged with murder in the Dow Wilson slaying, has filed a $500,000 damage suit against Wallace Charleston of Tiburon, police informant in the case.

Rock was one of five men charged with killing Wilson, a San Francisco Painters Union leader, last April. Charges against Rock were dismissed in December for lack of evidence.

Rock's suit, filed in San Francisco Superior Court, charges that Charleston and five unnamed persons instigated the prosecution against him to receive reward money posted in the case.

The suit asks $250,000 actual damages and $250,000 punitive damages.

Charleston's testimony helped convict two defendants in the killing, Norman Call and Max Ward. Charges against Rock and the late Clyde Simmonds were dropped. A fifth defendant, Ben Rasnick, is awaiting a second trial after a jury failed to agree on his case in January.

Rock of 230 Del Casa Drive in Mill Valley, is owner of a San Francisco bar where, the prosecution charged, a conspiracy to kill Wilson was hatched.

His suit charges that Charleston and the others acted "without reasonable or probable cause in instigating the criminal prosecution with the intent to receive a substantial reward."

Rewards totaling $42,175 were posted by labor organizations for information in the Wilson case. Distribution of the money will be decided by the superior court.

United Crusade Ties Discussion At Session

Strengthening the ties between United Bay Area Crusade and members agencies in Marin County was discussed at a volunteer gathering today in the community room of Bank of Marin, San Rafael.

The session was called by Mrs. E. Gould Ingram of Belvedere, chairman of the agency relations committee of the Marin United Crusade trustees, and attended by home-based agency executives and agency volunteers who are serving on the five-county UBAC Board of Trustees.

LSD Trip Ends Inside Display Window Of Shop

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— An LSD "trip" came to a shattering halt inside the display window of a downtown confectionery shop today.

Inside the smashed up window, his mind crazed by the hallucinogenic drug and his body bleeding from many cuts, police found David Earl Goodrich, 18, San Bruno.

It took five policemen to subdue the struggling youth, officers said, and during the melee he bit one policeman on the arm and hand.

The youth told police he had taken LSD, but otherwise was unable to explain his actions at the Blum's store.

He was taken to Mission Emergency Hospital for treatment of cuts on the face, hands, neck and body.

Traffic Violation Tags Modernized

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — From now on San Francisco police will be able to handle traffic violations more efficiently.

A new multiple-violation tag allows police to write up three on one tag. Formerly, a separate tag had to be used for each violation.

School Chiefs Urged To See Legislators

Marin County school superintendents were urged yesterday to keep in touch with their legislators to push bills endorsed by the California Association of School Administrators.

The advice came from Dennie B. Willis, Dixie district superintendent, at a meeting of the Marin Association of School Administrators at the Tiburon Lodge in Tiburon.

Robers F. Stannard, assistant county superintendent, warned that a problem may be posed for school districts because all school finance measures so far introduced in the legislature include property tax relief provisions.

Two superintendents recently returned from a national school administrators' conference in Atlantic City, N.J. — James G. Bunker of Novato and H. Joseph Edgington of Reed — reported Midwest and southern superintendents "are learning to cope" with collective bargaining, and are no longer resisting federal aid to schools.

The superintendents agreed to hold kindergarten registration throughout the county the week of April 17.

Superintendents Chester G. Carlisle of Tamalpais High School District, Stephen L. Parodi of San Anselmo and Milton S. Cohen of Larkspur were named as nominating committee, to present a slate of officers for next fiscal year at the association's April 5 meeting.

North Vietnam Invasion Seen

Robert F. Kaufmann of San Rafael, speaking at a Terra Linda meeting last night sponsored by Marin People for Peace, said in his opinion there was a "strong possibility" on invasion of North Vietnam by American forces "within the next few weeks."

He saw this as a development of President Johnson's need for a quick way out of Vietnam "coupled with that lack of policy and the prodding by militarists who believe eventual war with China is inevitable."

Kaufmann called for rejection of what he called "the negative activity of stopping communism" and the implementation of a policy to aid and support freedom for freedom's sake throughout the world.

Curbs On Timber Vandals Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Western timber companies urged public and private interests yesterday to do something about the problem of increasing vandalism in forest areas.

The request was contained in a resolution presented to 600 delegates at the annual meeting of the Western Wood Products Association. It was drawn up by a committee which said most of the damage is done in picnic grounds, camp grounds and forestry industry facilities.

"Vandalism of public and private timberlands costs hundreds of thousands of dollars to industry and the taxpayers each year," the committee said.

UNDERSTUDY NAMED—Teamster president James Hoffa announces that executive vice president Frank Fitzsimmons will tend the shop if Hoffa actually goes to jail on his jury tampering conviction. (UPI Telephoto)

Hoffa Ordered To Begin Serving Time Next Week

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—Federal prison loomed today as the next plateau in the career of James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa, the most powerful union leader in America.

The 53-year-old leader of the 1.7 million-member Teamsters Union was ordered yesterday to surrender to U.S. marshals here next Tuesday to begin an eight-year-prison term for tampering with a jury.

His battery of attorneys was expected to use the five days exhausting every legal recourse in an attempt to have the sentence delayed or overturned.

Hoffa, who rose to absolute power in the nation's largest union from a 32-cent-an-hour warehouse dock loader in Detroit, probably would be sent to the federal prison in Atlanta. Under normal conditions, he would be eligible for parole after serving two years and eight months of his sentence.

He would continue to wield the powers of his office, Hoffa said, and to draw his $100,000 annual salary. The Teamsters' General Executive Board Tuesday voted to turn over control of the union to Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons "in the event of Hoffa's absence." Fitzsimmons, 58, also would draw a $100,000 salary.

The man whose single strike order reputedly could paralyze the nation in a transportation tieup was ordered to prepare for prison by Federal District Judge Frank W. Wilson.

The 60-story Gothic tower that F. W. Woolworth built on lower Broadway in New York in 1913 was hailed as a "cathedral of Commerce." Woolworth thought of it as a "sky sign" to advertize his five- and 10-cent stores.

Eichler Corp. Files Bankruptcy Figures

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Eichler Corp. reports in a bankruptcy financial statement that its assets now exceed liabilities by $6 million.

The statement filed yesterday reported assets of $33.25 million and liabilities of $26.93 million.

The Eichler home building firm now is controlled by Charles H. Parr, president, and William H. Bryson, executive vice president. The two Los Angeles men bought out the interests of founder Joseph Eichler last October.

The Eichler firm filed its statement to support its request to set up a plan to pay off its creditors. Some creditors are seeking to force the firm into liquidation.

A Securities and Exchange Commission spokesman said the SEC plans to petition to put Eicher into a Chapter X reorganization plan. This would require a revamping of the company's capital structure.

Among the assets the Eichler firm listed were 27.7 million in real estate, $2.9 million in debts due on open accounts, and $2.3 million in securities.

Liabilities listed included $23.3 million in secured claims and $3.54 million in unsecured claims.

Registration

Registration for the spring term of the Novato Adult Evening High School may now be made at the administration building, according to Robert McKeay, principal.

The 10-week term will start the week of March 27.

Strep Cases Lead County Illness List

Seventy-two cases of streptococcus infection were reported in Marin County last week, 48 of them in Novato, but relatively few other cases of infectious diseases were reported.

County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht reported one case of German measles in San Rafael, one case of infectious hepatitis in Mill Valley, six cases of mumps, three of gonorrhea, and two of measles.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S FUND SURVIVES TEST

Legislature's Watchdog In An Unusual New Role

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, known for years as a tough man with a dollar, is trying to become accustomed to his new image as a big spender.

Post broke a 26-year tradition Monday when he recommended at $185 million increase in the $4.6 billion budget submitted to the legislature by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Post says he now is being "kidded about being a big spender" but maintained in an interview in his 3rd floor capitol office he is still "a hard man for a buck."

"These were by all odds the toughest cuts we've proposed in a budget," he said.

Post said his budget proposal will probably remain above the governor's "unless he (Reagan) changes his attitude" toward the funding of the state colleges and the University of California.

To help in his job as the legislature's fiscal watchdog, Post has a staff of 30, plus 10 secretaries.

Post's salary is $30,319—the same as the state finance director's.

His office costs the taxpayers $600,000 a year, but he generally saves the taxpayers many time that amount with his budget ax.

Auto Makers Report Drop In New Cars

DETROIT (UPI) —The nation's "big four" auto makers produced 1,189,438 cars in the first two months of 1967, down 24.4 per cent from the same period in 1966.

The January and February production figures released by General Motors, Chrysler Corp., Ford Motor Co., and American Motors Corp., Wednesday showed the drop from the 1,572,799 cars produced during the first two-month period in 1966. G.M., with production of 640,626 cars in January and February, accounted for 54 per cent of the total.

The lower production was attributed to layoffs caused by parts shortage at G.M. and layoffs as a result of a slowdown in the purchase of new cars.

Hub Trustees Request School Bus Opinions

San Anselmo Parent-Teacher Associations and other parent organizations have been asked to advise the San Anselmo School District board on the district's bus transportation policy.

The smaller of the district's two buses should be taken out of service at the end of this semester, according to Supt. Stephen L. Parodi, and the other, purchased in 1953, should not continue its present heavy use.

Parodi has asked the organizations to give their opinions on three choices for future policy: Returning to former policy of transporting only kindergarten through third grade pupils from bus stops at least three-fourths of a mile from school, abandoning transportation of pupils altogether, or transporting fourth through eighth graders from bus stops at least a mile from school.

Replacement of the larger bus would cost the district at least $17,048, and replacement of the smaller one would cost at least $7,719, according to the superintendent.

The cost of bus transportation in the 1965-66 school year came to $11,850.13, including $2,269.48 for repairs, he said. The state reimbursed $2,906 of the cost.

The district is now transporting fourth through eighth grade pupils assigned to a school other than the neighborhood school. Two additional bus runs were added in September along Butterfield Road for students attending Hidden Valley and Sleepy Hollow schools.

He believes the district should replace the older bus with a slightly larger one, which would cost about $8,500, and should repair the larger one and keep it in service. But he believes the district should return to the policy of providing transportation only through third grade.

Strawberry Bond Election Set; Pool Demand Voiced

Directors of Strawberry Recreation District voted unanimously yesterday to call a $23,000 bond election in a special district for May 2.

The bond would finance dredging of the Strawberry Channel which fronts 19 homes.

Leighton Hatch, attorney, and Stanley Anderson, secretary of the Strawberry Swim Club asked for arbitration on the district's termination of the club's swimming pool lease, effective April 5. The board took no action. Hatch then announced he would file a demand for arbitration with the American Arbitration Association in San Francisco.

Secretary Anderson said today if the district will not agree to formal arbitration, the next step for the club will be to take legal action. Anderson said the club is willing to abide by a "third-party decision" on the controversy.

Directors George C. Lopes and Arthur R. Senter were appointed to set up the district's 1968 fiscal year budget.

Use of the baseball field on Strawberry Park was authorized for Little League practice sessions beginning March 13.

The district's architect, J. Martin Rosse, was authorized to seek bids for grading, paving and fencing of a tot lot at Strawberry Park.

Dinner To Honor Helen E. Nelson

Former State Consumer Counsel Helen Ewing Nelson of Mill Valley, who was ousted from her job by Gov. Ronald Reagan, will be honored at a testimonial luncheon at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito on March 21.

Elaine Guthrie of Ross will be chairman of the luncheon, which is sponsored by the Marin Democratic Central Committee.

Ann Alanson of San Francisco, Democratic national committeewoman, will introduce Mrs. Nelson. She will discuss the role of the consumer counsel's office under former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, and the political situation in Sacramento today.

Pair Arraigned On Forgery

Donna Mae Minosky, 22, and Leroy Austin Bazile, 19, were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a joint complaint alleging conspiracy to pass a forged $144.26 check at Wells Fargo Bank in San Anselmo Tuesday.

Miss Minosky, also charged with two counts of possession of checks with intent to defraud pleaded innocent. Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. scheduled her preliminary hearing for March 21.

Bazile, was to enter a plea on the conspiracy count this afternoon.

Petalumans Named As Fair Directors

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Henry E. Tomasini and Robert W. Mackey, both of Petaluma, have been chosen by Gov. Ronald Reagan to fill vacancies on the board of directors of the 4th District Agricultural Association.

Both are Republicans. The board runs the 4th District Fair.

Soviets Said Anxious To Relocate Troops

GENEVA (UPI)—Diplomatic sources said today Russia was anxious to shift some of her crack troops from Eastern Europe to positions along the tense Sino-Soviet border.

The the sources said the Russians were apparently unwilling to make the move unless Britain and the United States also thin out their forces in Western Europe.

The Russians were understood to be closely following troop strength developments in the West, particularly Britain's threat to reduce its forces in Germany because of a dispute wits West Germany over who should pay the cost of keeping the troops there.

Diplomatic sources hinted strongly that Russia would quietly match a Western pullback "by example," rather than by a formal treaty agreement.

The Russians last year shifted several divisions to their 5,000 mile long border with Red China. Some six divisions were understood to have been transferred, mainly from the reserves in central Asia. Peking claimed that Russia has sent as many as 13 divisions to its far eastern border area in recent months.

Reports that Russia also shifted some of her troops from East Europe to the border with China have not been confirmed.

Russia has 26 divisions in East Europe, including 20 in East Germany, two in Poland and four in Hungary. They are maintained in combat strength.

Russia could in effect easily afford a thinning out of her troops in East Europe, because behind those 26 Soviet divisions in the European part of the U.S.S.R. there are 75 more divisions which could be moved quickly in any emergency.

Speck Trial Judge Obeys Order On Press Complaint

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI)—The trial of Richard Speck on charges of murdering eight nurses resumed today with four jurors in the box and relaxed rules for news coverage.

The Illinois Supreme Court, with one justice dissenting, yesterday ordered Judge Herbert C. Paschen to modify his controversial, 16-point "guidelines" for reporters covering Speck's trial.

The high court did not immediately rule whether Paschen's guidelines were in violation of the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press. In its suit the Tribune Co. contended the restrictions on the press were unconstitutional.

The trial judge promptly put into the trial record the modifications ordered by the state Supreme Court. Paschen read the changes into the record in a loud, emphatic tone following an unusual 45-minute mid-afternoon recess.

Paschen was ordered to allow newsmen to buy at any time the transcripts of open court proceedings, a practice the judge had forbidden until after trial testimony begins.

The second of the two paragraphs read into the record ordered "that nothing contained (in previous orders) shall be construed to prevent reporting of all events and happenings that occur in open court, provided however that the names of the prospective jurors shall not be reported until such individuals are either excused or sworn and sequestered."

Illinois Supreme Court Justice Walter V. Schaefer dissented in the order issued by his colleagues, noting the Sixth Amendment guarantees the right of speedy and public trial "to the accused, not to the public."

The Supreme Court order was issued in response to a suit brought by the Tribune Co., publisher of the Chicago Tribune and other newspapers. The suit charged Paschen's guidelines were unconstitutional "judicial censorship and prior restraints upon freedom of speech."

The court said it would rule on the overall issue of constitutionality following a hearing set for oral arguments March 13.

The Tribune said in a dispatch today the suit would be discontinued.

Another Newspaper Boy Bitten By Dog

Charles Joseph Pearson, 13-year-old Independent-Journal newspaper boy of 157 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera, was bitten by a dog yesterday near 2 Woodhue Lane while covering his route.

The dog was identified by young Pearson today, according to Corte Madera police, as belonging to Nathaniel S. Peters of 444 Sausalito Street, Corte Madera, who said the dog had been vaccinated against rabies.

NOT GIVING UP — Harlem Rep. Adam Clayton Powell waves to staunch admirers in his vacation retreat at Bimini, after hearing that House members excluded him on charges of misconduct. He said yesterday he would try through the courts—and if necessary at the polls—to regain the seat he has held for 23 years. (UPI Telephoto)

Powell Plans Court, Vote Fight For Seat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Adam Clayton Powell plans to ask the courts "within the next week" to overrule the House and give him back his seat.

The Harlem preacher-politician also is ready to announce his candidacy for election to the vacancy that was created yesterday when the House voted to "exclude" him from the 90th Congress.

Rejecting the legal arguments offered by their own experts and ignoring pleas by leaders of both parties, rank-and-file House members took the rare step in response to heavy mail from the home folks demanding that the flamboyant Powell be denied his seat.

POWELL IN BIMINI

In character to the end, Powell was not on hand for the historic action. He got the news on the sunny isle of Bimini, where he has been vacationing.

"It's a second Dred Scott decision," he said, referring to the 1857 Supreme Court ruling upholding chattel slavery in the United States.

He then telephoned his lawyers, refused all comment on the action of his former colleagues, and resumed sipping scotch and milk and playing dominoes with local fishermen at "The End of the World" bar.

There were several roll call votes yesterday, but only two made any difference. In the first, the House voted 222 (109 Democrats, 113 GOP) to 202 (131 Demos, 71 GOP) to reject a special committee's plan to seat Powell, then fine him $40,000, strip him of 22 years seniority and subject him to public censure.

In the second, by a vote of 248 (123 Demos, 125 GOP) to 176 (117 Demos, 59 GOP), members adopted a substitute proposal offered by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., excluding Powell from membership in the 90th Congress and instructing Speaker John W. McCormick, D-Mass., to notify New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of the "existing vacancy," effective yesterday.

CELLER OBJECTS

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., 78-year-old dean of the House, longtime chairman of its Judiciary Committee, and chairman of the special nine-man panel of lawyers that sat in judgment on Powell, said if he were Powell he would go to court right away.

For one thing, Powell's lawyers can cite the statements of the special committee that the House has no authority to exclude a member-elect who meets the three constitutional qualifications—at least 25 years old, a U.S. citizen for seven years and an inhabitant of the state from which he is elected.

Driver Killed When Truck Hits Train

CHULAR (UPI) — Samuel Hooks, 62, of Chular, was killed yesterday when his pickup truck was hit by a train here.

Investigating officers said Hooks was driving on a road parallel to the track when he turned into the path of the speeding train.

Clausen Among California GOP Against Powell

Rep. Donald H. Clausen, First District-Calif., was among 11 Republican congressmen from California voting yesterday to exclude Adam Clayton Powell from the 90th Congress. Six California Democrats also voted for the motion.

Voting against were six Republicans and 15 Democrats from California.

Red Guards Plan Permanent Role

HONG KONG (UPI)—A Red Guard "high command" has been established in Peking in the interest of unity in destroying the enemies of Communist Chinese Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Peking Radio said tonight.

The broadcast said the high command was formed Feb. 22 at a Peking rally and was named the "capital's higher educational institutins Red Guards representative congress."

The congress "is now the highest general headquarters" of the militant followers of Mao, the broadcast said. The Guards pledged to destroy Mao's enemies and "go down to the farms and factories in an organized and disciplined manner to create unity with the workers and peasants."

Rightwing newspapers in Hong Kong meanwhile, said Premier Chou En-lai had reinstated a purged party official and sent him to run the city of Tientsin, a major port in north China.

The report said the move was aimed at restoring Red China's economy. The official was identified as Li Hsueh-feng, purged first secretary of the party's Peking Municipal Committee.

Chou was reported yesterday to have received full powers from Mao to stop the "cultural revolution" purges and get the country back on its feet.

The purpose of organizing a Red Guard high command apparently was to tighten the organization and bring the guards under stricter control and discipline.

Other reports from the mainland today indicated Mao's opponents have adopted a new tactic in their struggle against the party chairman designed to wreak further havoc on the nation's economy.

According to dispatches from Peking, the new anti-Mao strategy calls for encouraging and intimidating the peasants to flee their farms at the very time when they should be starting to sow spring crops.

Moscow Radio said yesterday day Chinese army troops have been called out to help with the vital spring planting and that Peking leaders have ordered a crackdown on further attempts by the peasants to leave their farms.

Moves Underway To Save Slayer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The attorney for condemned killer Paul Eugene La Vergne, 23, of San Diego said yesterday he has two moves underway to prevent LaVergne's execution March 15 in the San Quentin gas chamber.

Attorney Lerue Grim said he has:

Written Gov. Ronald Reagan asking for a clemency hearing.

Petitioned in Marin County Superior Court for a writ of habeas corpus, contending that a psychiatric examination would determine evidence warranting a new trial.

LaVergne was convicted of killing taxi driver Joseph Giacalone in 1965.

Grim said LaVergne was in such a mental state at his first trial that he could not communicate and made no move in his own defense.

Reagan Wins Applause Contest At $500-A-Plate GOP Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, dubbed in some polls as the leading Republican contender for the presidency in 1968, gained only a standoff with Republican leaders at a $1-million fund-raising dinner.

Romney, a top prospect for the 1968 presidential nomination, was outshone on the platform at last night's GOP gala performance by Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Reagan, a prospective California favorite son candidate aloof from Romney's potential bid for the nomination, easily won the applause meter contest with his appearance.

Not far from behind with the audience at the $500-a-plate dinner was Barry Goldwater, the 1968 presidential nominee, who apparently is still personally popular with the Republicans despite his disastrous defeat by President Johnson.

Goldwater acidly observed offstage that Romney would have a chance for the 1968 nomination "if he returns to the Republican party."

This was a measure of Goldwater's chagrin at Romney's refusal to support him in the 1968 race.

While the Michigan governor continued to talk in vague terms of future positions on Vietnam, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was his old, aggressive self on that issue.

Looked on as Romney's chief rival for the GOP nomination, Nixon said in a televised interview that increased military pressure was the way of "escalating the peace."

In an informal meeting with newsmen at the home of Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., Romney provided only nonanswers to questions on national issues.

Just back from a tour of western states, Romney told the banquet audience, "I've just found how the west was won: blood, sweat and avoiding press conferences."

He talked on economic subjects, saying Johnson was running the national economy "from the vest pocket of one man."

But Romney didn't waste his day in Washington. His engaging personality and striking television appearance probably made him new friends. His own personal assessment of the day's venture into national political circles was it had been "very useful!"

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, thought Romney made a "good impression." But another Republican senator, who asked not to be identified, said that while he had hoped to support Romney he felt the governor "can't cut the mustard" for a winning presidential campaign.

There was some speculation that Romney, a candidate of the GOP moderates, was angling for conservative support when he told Republican senators at a luncheon Wednesday that he's opposed to repeal of the law which permits states to ban the union shop.

Romney was said to have explained he couldn't advocate this publicly in Michigan, where the labor vote could be decisive.

The audience greeted Reagan with an ovation that exceeded applause given Romney when he arose to speak. Reagan's quips kept the audience laughing.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen also drew laughter when he announced at the beginning of the evening's final speech that "I accept the nomination." He invited the audience to take up the chant "We want Dirksen!"

Pessner Elected To GOP Chair

Hugh Pessner of Greenbrae, a lumber company owner, will head Marin Unit 1 of the United Republicans of California as president for 1967.

He succeeds Eric W. Lane of Corte Madera, who was elected secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Marie Montgomery of San Rafael is the new vice president.

Secretary Lane reported the group passed two resolutions by unanimous vote to:

1. Support the stand of the Los Angeles Young Republicans to locate an acceptable candidate to oppose Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel in the 1968 primary.

2. Urge a resolution by the state legislature advocating laws which will grant court rights to American Indians in disputes with the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Moderate Quake Recorded In State

FERNDALE (UPI) — A moderate earthquake rattled extreme Northern California last night. There were no reports of serious damage.

Seismologist Ron Smith said the temblor occurred at 11:11 p.m., and registered 4.5 on the Richter Scale. He said it probably was centered about 25 miles southwest of Ferndale in the Mendocino Escarpment, a branch of the San Andreas Fault.

Extra Zero Added To Subway Costs

A typographical error in the report of a suggested 65-mile subway train system from San Rafael to San Jose yesterday, bumped up the cost to "$7500 billion." This should have read "$750 million."

The report was presented today to the San Francisco Bay Transit Study Commission.

TAX COMPUTER GOOFS

Revenue Service Bares Near Miss—An $80 Million Error

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tax collector's computer can make an $80-million mistake — but apparently it won't make the same one twice.

The Internal Revenue Service admitted today its highly touted computer operation figured an $80 million refund last year for a large corporation simply because the company reversed its tax identification numbers.

It took humans to right the wrong in an audit.

But the computer made up for it this year. It caught the same mistake by the same corporation before it punched out a refund order.

This year, for the first time, all tax returns are being checked fully by the computer, which already has processed 3.2 million individual returns and credited refunds worth $479 million.

More than one in nine taxpayers who filed for refunds through last Saturday made mistakes in completing their forms, IRS said.

Errors were discovered both by computer and humans on more than 380,000 of the returns. Among them were 95,780 errors in arithmetic and 35,000 returns which listed the wrong Social Security number or none at all, IRS added.

It's the Social Security number — or tax identification number in the case of persons and corporations without a Social Security number — which is important in the computer operation.

Flameproof Fiber Sought For Astronauts' Safety

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Space Agency engineers have asked that a new fireproof fiberglass material be developed for use inside the Apollo spacecraft, it was learned today.

The list of suitable nonflammable materials is now "extremely limited," they said.

The new material—called Beta fiber—is being eyed for possible replacement of present materials in space suits and astronaut survival gear, a Space Center spokesman said.

All materials used inside the spacecraft are being tested as a result of the Apollo 1 fire that killed three astronauts Jan. 27 at Cape Kennedy. The spokesman said tests are not complete and their results are not available.

Engineers in the Space Center's crew systems division want to develop ways of using the fiberglass fabric as a replacement for other materials that might fail to pass the tests, he said.

Contractors were given until March 10 to come up with proposals for "a research and developmental program on nonflammable Beta fiber structures for spacecraft and crew systems applications."

The request specified that Beta fiber—introduced on the market a little more than a year ago in such products as draperies, bedspreads and clothing—is a "noncombustible flexible material which has been satisfactorily tested in pure oxygen."

The space center spokesman said until tests are completed, all potential areas where the fiberglass textile might be applied will not be known.

He said, however, it is mainly being considered for replacement of space suit materials and in survival equipment such as the rubber life rafts. The primary material now used in space suits is nylon.

Beta fiber, developed by the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., was designed as an extremely fine, flexible fiber which would be spun into yarn "with built-in fire safety."

Reagan Fiscal Crisis Charged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California Democratic Chairman Charles Warren has accused Gov. Ronald Reagan of "manufacturing" a state fiscal crisis.

Warren, a member of the Assembly, said yesterday Reagan has complained about the state's financial condition to cover up his failure to propose constructive new programs.

Warren told the capital city Democratic Club Reagan has used his fiscal crisis arguments as justification for his proposals to cut government services.

"This is absurd in a state with the highest employment and persona! income in the nation and an economy larger than all but a handful of nations of the world," Warren said.

Labor Attack On Supervisors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The state's AFL-CIO leader accuses the California County Supervisors Association of attempting to "weaken and destroy trade unions in the public employment field."

Thomas L. Pitts, secretary-treasurer of the California Labor Federation, said yesterday the move was launched by "reactionary eelments" in the association and urged labor unions to be on the alert for a proposed "County Personnel Relations" ordinance.

Pitts said the proposal, which the association sent to all 58 county boards of supervisors in the state, would make the supervisors the sole judge of whether an employee organization should be recognized.

Sausalito Planners Favor Yacht Club Zoning Hopes

Sausalito Planning Commission last night recommended amendment of open area district regulations to permit yacht clubs.

The amendment was requested by Sausalito Yacht Club, which hopes to expand its club and docking facilities north of the Trade Fair. Designation of the waterfront as an open area district came after the club located there, making it a legal but nonconforming use.

Commissioners made it clear that if their recommendation were approved by the city council, the club still would have to apply for a permit to expand, reported Commission Chairman Alan D. Bonapart. The central waterfront plan now being considered, he noted, recommends relocation of the club north of the sandspit.

Commissioners denied Humble for the station, on a 24,000-square-foot site, previously were rejected by the community appearances advisory board.

Sausalito Planning Commission also:

TREES—Approved a revised tree planting plan for the Vina del Mar subdivision at the end of George Lane, to cover hillside cuts.

GRADING — Recommended amendment of the county's policy statement on slope grading to preserve trees and natural conditions.

GLAD HAND—Recommended a permit to relocate the Glad Hand Restaurant outboard of its present location, to permit widening of Bridgeway.

PERMIT — Recommended a permit for a planned unit development of 28,893 square feet at 26 Alexander Avenue, to consist of three single-family lots and an existing triplex.

Auto Tape Taken From Locked Car

Theft of a stereophonic tape set in a burglary of the locked car of Jorg L. Friedrick, 6 Buckeye Circle, Woodacre, was reported Wednesday by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said entry to the vehicle, parked at Friedrick's home, was by prying a right ventilator window. Also taken was a purse containing $1, they said.

G.I. Wins Bet, Loses Freedom

A 20-year-old army man won a $5 bet in San Rafael last night — but it cost him a night in Marin County Jail.

Albert L. Russell, who gave his address as the Presidio of San Francisco, was arrested after police received reports he walked into Macy's Store without pants on.

He told Patrolman Joseph M. Leonard he met an unidentified man in San Rafael who bet him $5 he couldn't do it.

He was booked on a charge of indecent exposure and was held today on $550 bail.

Travel Agent Dies; Murder Charge Filed

BRISBANE (AP)—Charles E. Lacks, manager of a San Francisco travel agency, died today from head injuries incurred when he fell from the porch of his Brisbane home into a 40-foot ravine.

A murder charge was filed by police against J. C. Farrell, 19, a Navy man from Lubbock, Tex.

Farrell denied he pushed Lacks, claiming the travel agent jumped.

Police Sgt. John Brillo said there were signs of a struggle at Lacks' home.

Brillo said Farrell related:

He and Lacks met at San Francisco International Airport Saturday night, visited a few bars, then went to Lacks' home.

Farrell was invited to spend the night but said he had to return to the airport to catch a plane to Connecticut. He left, but returned for a camera. Then they argued.

Lacks, 37, who lived alone, was taken to Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame where he died.

Police found Farrell near the Lacks residence after the sailor went to a neighbor to get help.

Farrell has been in San Mateo County Jail, Redwood City, since.

Antenna Vandals Continue Hits

Vandals last night broke two radio antennas off cars in Mill Valley, police reported.

Bruce Millar, 432 Eldridge Avenue, reported his antenna was snapped off while his car was parked at home. E. T. Krebs, 61 Woodbine Drive, reported—for the fourth time in 10 days—that his antenna had been broken off while his car was parked on the street near his home. Also, he said, one tire was partially deflated.

For almost two weeks, residents on Woodbine and Eldridge have suffered a rash of broken antennas.

Snyder Wins Appointment To Rec Post

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission voted unanimously last night to appoint Andrew J. Snyder Jr. to the city's $11,040-a-year post of parks and recreation director.

The action made official an appointment that had been snarled in confusion over what official body had the power to hire.

Last week, City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen announced the hiring of Snyder to city councilmen, assuming he had the power to do so under the ordinance creating the city manager form of government.

The city charter, however, takes precedence over the ordinance and places the power of the appointment with the commission.

Snyder, who resigned last week as San Anselmo recreation director to take the new post, was hired last night on a motion by Commissioner Troy E. Lewis, seconded by Dino J. Ghilotti. Snyder begins work March 16.

The commission postponed action on a request by Joe Anselmo, manager of Litchfield's San Rafael Braves, and John Carbray, commissioner of Western Baseball Association, use of Albert Field baseball diamond this spring and summer. Commissioners asked specific information as to dates and hours.

Nolan Wilson, a member of the audience, asked for information on lighting in Albert Field and was told a study of possible improvements had been completed and would shortly be announced.

Bicycle Stolen

Pamela Youell of 8 King Street, Larkspur, told Larkspur police yesterday that her bicycle, valued at $50, was stolen from the carport at her home sometime this week.

Homeowners Advised On Garbage Payments

Enchanted Knolls residents were advised last night by Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer not to pay overcharges by Mill Valley Refuse Service Co. for garbage pickup.

In a letter to William H. Bay, president of Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association, Balmer wrote: "An inspection of our map which shows elevation contours reveals that only a small portion of the inhabited area of Enchanted Knolls lies above the 150-foot elevation mark. This means that most residences in Enchanted Knolls should be billed at the current rate of $1.50 a month . . . The rate for a home over 150 feet above sea level and less than 350 feet is $1.75 a month.

OVERCHARGES

"Any resident of Enchanted Knolls who has been paying rates higher than those listed above has been overcharged. I would recommend that he correct the current billing from the company and pay only what he actually owes. I would also recommend that he write to the company and request a rebate of the accumulated overcharges he has paid in the past."

Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association directors endorsed a proposal by Supervisor Peter H. Behr that the county and Mill Valley School District each put up 25.5 per cent of the cost of a sidewalk on the unincorporated portion of Lomita Drive, between Ashford Avenue and Edna Maguire School, thus forcing property owners into an assessment district to finance the sidewalk.

PLAYGROUND

Bay reported that plans were being made for a playground on a portion of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. land on Roque Moraes Drive.

The group endorsed the city of Mill Valley's $500,000 sewer bond measure, to be voted on April 18. 18.

Presbyterians Like New Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Overwhelming approval is being given by presbyteries of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. to a new confession which, for the first time, recognizes the Church's obligation to work for social justice.

William P. Thompson, chief executive officer of the denomination, said yesterday that two-thirds of the Church's 188 presbyteries-whose membership totals 3.3 million-have ratified the proposed Confession of 1967.

Ballot9ng now stands at 126 for and 14 against. Final approval must be given by the delegates to the 179th General Assembly which convenes May 18 in Portland, Ore.

62nd Inmate Arrives On Death Row

A 62nd inmate of Death Row arrived at San Quentin Prison yesterday, 21-year-old Fred Kipp Bassett.

Bassett, of Wilmington, was convicted of the 1963 murder of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Bassett. He told police he had perfect crime so the deaths would look like a murder and suicide. He was a student at Long Beach State College at the time of the killings.

He was found mentally ill after being arrested and was sent to Atascadero State Hospital. Late in 1966 psychiatrists ruled he was sane enough to stand trial. A Los Angeles jury in December found him guilty of the two murders and sentenced him to the gas chamber.

No execution date has been set.

Couple's Circus Shooting Act Ends In Grim Mistake

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A couple's precision shooting act ended in horror when a man accidentally shot his wife in the right eye before more than 400 spectators at a sports show here.

Elaine Gray, 31, struck last night by a .22 caliber bullet fired from a rifle by her husband, Fred, 58, while the two were performing at the Great Northeastern Sports Show at the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Gray was reported in critical condition at Memorial Hospital. Her husband was treated at the hospital for shock.

The Grays, who bill themselves as the Gauchos, have traveled the show and carnival circuit for years performing their act.

When they perform, Gray sits with his back to his wife, who is seated 15 feet away from him. Gray wears a blindfold and shoots the rifle over his right shoulder at a cup atop a seven-inch stem on Mrs. Gray's head.

She gives her husband verbal commands, such as lower the gun, raise it or move to the right or left, before she gives the command to fire.

Unusual Motifs Characterize Jewelry Designed In Marin

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Margot Biestman's jewelry pieces are handsome works of art, but they are especially interesting because of the unusual origins of their designs.

These include creative dancing, ancient writings, such as Egyptian hieroglyphics, fossils and other motifs from nature, symbols of personal and abstract meaning and even accidents or happenings.

Most of her work is in gold and silver using Egyptian faience beads and precious and semi-precious stones — predominantly in necklaces, but also in rings, earrings and brooches. She also makes some pieces, such as candelabra and bowls in brass.

In private life Margot is Mrs. Perry Biestman of Sausalito, the wife of a San Francisco merchant and mother of three children, John, 11, Mark, 10, and Anne, 6. She works in a studio in her home, where she creates the jewelry that has been shown in a number of museums.

"I never follow cults," she says. "The minute anything becomes fashionable, I switch to something else, and I never make the same thing twice. In fact my work becomes so personal that it doesn't appeal to the masses, and this doesn't make any difference to me."

Dancing came first among the influences on Margot's designs, for she studied creative dancing throughout her years at Stanford University, where she was graduated in 1953 with an A.B. degree and major in French.

Her dance teachers were Ann Halprin of Kentfield and Welland Lathrop of San Francisco. She is now studying with A. A. Leath in San Francisco, for dancing is an essential means of self expression for her.

She first studied metalsmithing with Victor Ries, formerly of Mill Valley, and now of San Francisco. She had studied design earlier at the San Francisco Art Institute.

After graduation, wanting to create something with her hands, she began working in Ries's studio and shortly afterward started the workshop in her own home. She came by her artistic talents naturally, for her mother was a painter.

"My jewelry is very much influenced by antiquities and primitive things," she said. "I'm fascinated with hieroglyphics and other ancient writings and alphabets that are like dance patterns. Fossils to me are a type of handwriting.

"I believe very much in putting handwriting into a piece of metal that comes cold out of the facotry. Metal in its original state is very beautiful — and comes in crystals that are like handwriting, but the cold, hard sheet needs a person with a hammer to work it into a living contemporary art.

"But I don't like my work to look exactly like ancient pieces," she added.

Margot wants her jewelry to look natural, and often uses unpolished stones in their natural shape. She even uses accidents, or happenings, as she calls them, though she is opposed to the unplanned mistakes that some artists use and call them art.

Illustrating what she meant by accidents, she explained, "I may blow silver into a ball, smash it with bricks and when it goes splat, I may incorporate one of these splats into a design."

One of Margot's most beautiful creations is an early set of necklace and earrings in gold and faience beads. Made by a ceramic process, these are tiny blue, gold and tan beads found only in Egyptian tombs. Fascinated because of her interest in primitive things, she bought her first supply from the Metropolitan Museum of Art in

AT HER HOME in Sausalito Margot Biestman uses an acetylene torch in the annealing process which breaks down the crystallization of metal, making it soft so that it can be hammered. She is working on a brass bowl. Also shown is a handsome brass candelabrum containing nine tall slender white tapers.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Everybody Went To Town

By MOLLY MARIN

A production indeed was the Junior League's big fund-raiser — the annual fashion show, "Dress Rehearsal," held yesterday in the Fairmont Hotel's grand ballroom. Stealing the spotlight as she was seated was Nancy Reagan, California's first lady, down from Sacramento to view the show which raises the funds for projects of the league, of which she is a member.

And, as a finale to the eight acts from Broadway musicals came Rosemary Clooney, who trod the runway in a pale yellow floating chiffon gown under the watchful eyes of Pinkerton men guarding the jewels she wore to prove that "Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend."

Marinites were everywhere—as spectators, mothers of youngsters in the show, as models, hostesses, and the chairmen—Mrs. Kirk Frederick of San Rafael, assisted by Mesdames Thomas Dorst and Lee Gammill of Tiburon and Mill Valley. Other busy committeewomen were Mesdames Frank Barsocchini, V. Neil Fulton, Howard Banks, William Hickman, Leonard Weisenburg, Laurence Symmes and Richard Otter.

OPENING THE SHOW in a daring cut-out black beach dress was Mrs. William J. Morris of Kentfield—well known to Junior League show audiences, and other models showing many filmy, flowered prints were Mesdames John Busterud, Howard Banks, Lee Gammill Jr., all of Mill Valley; McKenzie Moss and Robert Clark Taylor of Ross; Gerald D. Stratford of Belvedere, John H. Wingate Jr. and Leonard Weisenburg of San Rafael. The latter starred in a waltz number with Richard Otter for the Cole Porter "Wunderbar" scene, and Jane Gammill and Victor Grant did the Beguine number under the spotlights.

HUSBANDS OF members gamely dancing in the first act — "Anything Goes" by Cole Porter—included Richard Otter of Sausalito, Victor Grant and Lee Gammill, both Mill Valleyans. The men came on in topsiders, striped shirts and white duck trousers.

AMONG THE YOUNGSTERS in the show were the John Busteruds' daughter, Mary; Caitlin Cavalier, daughter of the William Cavaliers Jr. of Ross; Nevill Eschen, whose parents are the James C. Eschens of Ross; Whitney Hickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hickman of Greenbrae; Elisabeth Logan, daughter of the Van Norden Logans, and Matthew Tasley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Tasley, all of Ross. Teen-age models included Anne Elizabeth Bennett, daughter of the Huntley Bennetts, and Dori Jane Niccolls, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Niccolls, also all of Ross.

The youngsters' mothers were beaming anxiously as they watched their offspring negotiate the long walk through the ballroom . . .

Hostesses decked out in paper dresses in the hallway and lobbies included many who'd crossed the bridge from Marin —Mesdames Barry T. Brennan, Douglas Christensen, Robert Dagley, James Eschen, Bayard Herrick, Albert Seidel, Dwight Merriman Jr., David Donlon, and Matthew McGowan. Among spectators at ramp-side tables were Karen and Gordon Dohemann of San Rafael with her sister and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. Peter Packard; Mesdames Clarence O. Amonette, William Niccolls, Wililam Cavalier and Alfred P. Otto, all of Ross, while Mrs. Huntley Bennett stood for the show and greeted her 13 year old daughter, Anne, at the end of each modeling stint, as did Mrs. William Hickman, when her four year old son finished his part in the production. Others on hand for the luncheon were Mrs. Victor L. Burner of Larkspur, Donald Wilcox of Ross, Louis G. Harding of Mill Valley and Charles McPherson of San Rafael.

DOWN FROM her home in Redding where she moved the past year was Mrs. William Scott Anderson, formerly of Kentfield. Gingie and her husband had arrived for a convention in the city just in time for her to attend the luncheon.

WHEN SPOTLIGHTS faded on Rosemary Clooney in the last scene, it spelled finale for fashion shows for the Junior League of San Francisco for a while at least. Plans next year call for a revue extravaganza to be presented at least twice, recalling the successful League shows held in the mid-Fifties for fun and profit for League projects.

Miss Rupke Will Marry In June

A family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt F. H. Rupke in Sleepy Hollow was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Theresa Marianne Rupke, to John Grissen Richardson.

Theresa is the sister of Kurt Martin Rupke of San Anselmo. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hosmer Collor of Mill Valley and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rupke of the East Bay.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grissen Richardson of San Francisco. He is the brother of Kenneth Park Richardson and Helen Louise Richardson of San Francisco.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, attended the University of the Pacific and will be graduated from the University of California in June. A late June wedding is planned.

John is a graduate of Lowell High School and of the University of the Pacific. He now attends the University of California at Davis where he is studying for his master's degree in sociology. He was affiliated with Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity on the Stockton campus.

ENGAGED TO WED in June are Theresa Marianne Rupke of Sleepy Hollow and John Grissen Richardson of San Francisco. (Toren photo)

Unusual Motifs Characterize Jewelry Designed In Marin

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Margot Biestman's jewelry pieces are handsome works of art, but they are especially interesting because of the unusual origins of their designs.

These include creative dancing, ancient writings, such as Egyptian hieroglyphics, fossils and other motifs from nature, symbols of personal and abstract meaning and even accidents or happenings.

Most of her work is in gold and silver using Egyptian faience beads and precious and semi-precious stones — predominantly in necklaces, but also in rings, earrings and brooches. She also makes some pieces, such as candelabra and bowls in brass.

In private life Margot is Mrs. Perry Biestman of Sausalito, the wife of a San Francisco merchant and mother of three children, John, 11, Mark, 10, and Anne, 6. She works in a studio in her home, where she creates the jewelry that has been shown in a number of museums.

"I never follow cults," she says. "The minute anything becomes fashionable, I switch to something else, and I never make the same thing twice. In fact my work becomes so personal that it doesn't appeal to the masses, and this doesn't make any difference to me."

Dancing came first among the influences on Margot's designs, for she studied creative dancing throughout her years at Stanford University, where she was graduated in 1953 with an A.B. degree and major in French.

Her dance teachers were Ann Halprin of Kentfield and Welland Lathrop of San Francisco. She is now studying with A. A. Leath in San Francisco, for dancing is an essential means of self expression for her.

She first studied metalsmithing with Victor Ries, formerly of Mill Valley, and now of San Francisco. She had studied design earlier at the San Francisco Art Institute.

After graduation, wanting to create something with her hands, she began working in Ries's studio and shortly afterward started the workshop in her own home. She came by her artistic talents naturally, for her mother was a painter.

"My jewelry is very much influenced by antiquities and primitive things," she said. "I'm fascinated with hieroglyphics and other ancient writings and alphabets that are like dance patterns. Fossils to me are a type of handwriting.

"I believe very much in putting handwriting into a piece of metal that comes cold out of the facotry. Metal in its original state is very beautiful — and comes in crystals that are like handwriting, but the cold, hard sheet needs a person with a hammer to work it into a living contemporary art.

"But I don't like my work to look exactly like ancient pieces," she added.

Margot wants her jewelry to look natural, and often uses unpolished stones in their natural shape. She even uses accidents, or happenings, as she calls them, though she is opposed to the unplanned mistakes that some artists use and call them art.

Illustrating what she meant by accidents, she explained, "I may blow silver into a ball, smash it with bricks and when it goes splat, I may incorporate one of these splats into a design."

One of Margot's most beautiful creations is an early set of necklace and earrings in gold and faience beads. Made by a ceramic process, these are tiny blue, gold and tan beads found only in Egyptian tombs. Fascinated because of her interest in primitive things, she bought her first supply from the Metropolitan Museum of Art in

ONE OF MARGOT Biestman's most beautiful creations is this early set of necklace and earrings of faience beads and gold chased with designs inspired by ancient Egyptian art. Faience beads are tiny ceramic beads in blue, green and tan found only in Egyptian tombs.

AT HER HOME in Sausalito Margot Biestman uses an acetylene torch in the annealing process which breaks down the crystallization of metal, making it soft so that it can be hammered. She is working on a brass bowl. Also shown is a handsome brass candelabrum containing nine tall slender white tapers.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Everybody Went To Town

By MOLLY MARIN

A production indeed was the Junior League's big fund-raiser — the annual fashion show, "Dress Rehearsal," held yesterday in the Fairmont Hotel's grand ballroom. Stealing the spotlight as she was seated was Nancy Reagan, California's first lady, down from Sacramento to view the show which raises the funds for projects of the league, of which she is a member.

And, as a finale to the eight acts from Broadway musicals came Rosemary Clooney, who trod the runway in a pale yellow floating chiffon gown under the watchful eyes of Pinkerton men guarding the jewels she wore to prove that "Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend."

Marinites were everywhere—as spectators, mothers of youngsters in the show, as models, hostesses, and the chairmen—Mrs. Kirk Frederick of San Rafael, assisted by Mesdames Thomas Dorst and Lee Gammill of Tiburon and Mill Valley. Other busy committeewomen were Mesdames Frank Barsocchini, V. Neil Fulton, Howard Banks, William Hickman, Leonard Weisenburg, Laurence Symmes and Richard Otter.

OPENING THE SHOW in a daring cut-out black beach dress was Mrs. William J. Morris of Kentfield—well known to Junior League show audiences, and other models showing many filmy, flowered prints were Mesdames John Busterud, Howard Banks, Lee Gammill Jr., all of Mill Valley; McKenzie Moss and Robert Clark

Taylor of Ross; Gerald D. Stratford of Belvedere, John H. Wingate Jr. and Leonard Weisenburg of San Rafael. The latter starred in a waltz number with Richard Otter for the Cole Porter "Wunderbar" scene, and Jane Gammill and Victor Grant did the Beguine number under the spotlights.

HUSBANDS OF members gamely dancing in the first act — "Anything Goes" by Cole Porter—included Richard Otter of Sausalito, Victor Grant and Lee Gammill, both Mill Valleyans. The men came on in topsiders, striped shirts and white duck trousers.

AMONG THE YOUNGSTERS in the show were the John Busteruds' daughter, Mary; Caitlin Cavalier, daughter of the William Cavaliers Jr. of Ross; Nevill Eschen, whose parents are the James C. Eschens of Ross; Whitney Hickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hickman of Greenbrae; Elisabeth Logan, daughter of the Van Norden Logans, and Matthew Tasley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Tasley, all of Ross. Teen-age models included Anne Elizabeth Bennett, daughter of the Huntley Bennetts, and Dori Jane Niccolls, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Niccolls, also all of Ross.

The youngsters' mothers were beaming anxiously as they watched their offspring negotiate the long walk through the ballroom . . .

Hostesses decked out in paper dresses in the hallway and lobbies included many who'd crossed the bridge from Marin —Mesdames Barry T. Brennan, Douglas Christensen, Robert Dagley, James Eschen, Bayard Herrick, Albert Seidel, Dwight Merriman Jr., David Donlon, and Matthew McGowan. Among spectators at ramp-side tables were Karen and Gordon Dohemann of San Rafael with her sister and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. Peter Packard; Mesdames Clarence O. Amonette, William Niccolls, Wililam Cavalier and Alfred P. Otto, all of Ross, while Mrs. Huntley Bennett stood for the show and greeted her 13 year old daughter, Anne, at the end of each modeling stint, as did Mrs. William Hickman, when her four year old son finished his part in the production. Others on hand for the luncheon were Mrs. Victor L. Burner of Larkspur, Donald Wilcox of Ross, Louis G. Harding of Mill Valley and Charles McPherson of San Rafael.

DOWN FROM her home in Redding where she moved the past year was Mrs. William Scott Anderson, formerly of Kentfield. Gingie and her husband had arrived for a convention in the city just in time for her to attend the luncheon.

WHEN SPOTLIGHTS faded on Rosemary Clooney in the last scene, it spelled finale for fashion shows for the Junior League of San Francisco for a while at least. Plans next year call for a revue extravaganza to be presented at least twice, recalling the successful League shows held in the mid-Fifties for fun and profit for League projects.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Brother Has Lion's Share While Sister Spends Her Time Cleaning

DEAR HELEN:

I think I am going to have a nervous breakdown. I don't know if 14-year-olds have them or not, but all these little problems pile up inside me to a gigantic mountain.

We have a large house and between cleaning and baby sitting for my mother, I don't get out of it much. Last summer I got to go swimming twice. I've been out in the evenings three times since school started, once to a church party, once to a movie and once to my girl friend's house. People have stopped inviting me because I am always too busy at home. I have to clean house, help cook, do dishes, wash, iron, etc.

My older brother worked last summer and made $600. I earned $30 selling cards, and spent every bit of it on birthday gifts for the family. My brother spent his on himself and Mom bought his gifts to the family. My parents bought him about $50 worth of stuff for his birthday and they gave me $5.00 for mine. I got my Mom a real nice gift and nobody else did, and all I got was a tiny little "Thank you" (cause she didn't want to make my brother feel bad). I don't care about getting gifts that much, but I just wanted to give you an example. It's always like this.

I even have to clean up my brother's room and it's like a tornado had struck. He knows I'm stuck with cleaning so he really works at getting it messy.

Whenever I ask to go out, my folks say, "You want to go all the time — we never went anywhere when we were kids." I'm so sick of that I don't ask any more. Do you blame me for going batty? — DESPERATE.

DEAR DESPERATE:

Your brother seems to have the lion's share of everything but work. And since when must a sister clean up her brother's room? That's expecting too much of a girl who already has it rough. If your parents don't let up and let you be young, they may be paying your doctor bills soon.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My mother and I are very close. She's young and pretty and all the kids are envious of me because we're almost like sisters. I can talk to her about anything, except kissing boys. I'd tell her about that except I'm afraid she might be hurt. You see, she has told me she never kissed a boy until she got engaged to my father, at 15.

She is by no means an old fogy. She's just perfect. I'd love to tell her that I don't think it's wrong for a nice boy to kiss me goodnight, nothing more, but will she be disappointed in me?—S.H.M.

DEAR S:

I'm quite sure she already knows nice boys kiss you goodnight. Why don't you leave this column by her breakfast plate, and then you can smile about it together?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

This boy I almost love is going in the Army next month. I won't want to think of him getting killed in Vietnam, so I'm going to break off with him — I can't stand the worry. Would he understand? It's really because I care too much and couldn't bear hearing the worst.—K.T.

DEAR K:

I doubt that a jungle fighter would understand a girl who "cares" so much she breaks up with him to save herself from worry.

(But he's lucky to lose a fine little morale builder like you!)—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 11 and want very much to be a child actress. I can sing and act very well (I think), but better in my room with the door shut than with people. I take speech and dramatic art at private school and sometimes I have stage fright. Would this keep me from success?—H.N.

DEAR H:

Almost every famous star has stage fright — before every performance. Keep studying, keep acting, keep your ambition burning . . . and try out each time the little theater in your town has a child's part. Good luck!—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

JEWELRY AT MUSEUMS

New York, where they had some left over from a dig.

Margot's use of symbols is another interesting aspect of her work. On wedding rings, for instance, she may use a medieval symbol for happiness or the signs for man and woman in an ancient language, or a symbol of something which has meaning for the people who wear the rings.

"One woman wanted me to make a set of wedding rings for her to match her changing moods," she laughed. "I made one necklace telling the story of my mother's life in symbols."

She also puts symbols of appropriate significance on the little silver loving cups she makes as gifts for special people on special occasions.

Some pieces of Margot's jewelry are now on display at the Museum West in Ghirardelli Square in San Francisco. Among other places it has been shown are the San Francisco Museum of Art, the Henry Gallery at the University of Washington in Seattle, the Los Angeles County Museum and the Richmond Art Museum.

"I'm exploring new techniques of etching now," she said.

Very noticeable around the Biestmans' home are primitive objects of all kinds and containers, including one section in a coffee table, filled with beautifully shaped rocks, stones and pebbles. Margot's favorite ones are of petrified wood, the carnelians from Fort Cronkhite and those containing fossils.

Most of them are round or oval and polished to a satiny finish by natural means. They would make ideal "worry stones" for handling as tranquilizers.

Plentiful Supplies Of Meat, Fowl And Produce Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—March winds bring a good variety of meat, poultry and seasonal fresh produce for weekend food shoppers.

Vegetable bins boast a colorful array of fresh cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce and potatoes. Fruit counters are still brimming with fresh oranges and grapefruit, along with plenty of apples and avocados.

Meat counters generally offer plenty of beef roasts and steaks, pork roasts, ham and bacon. In poultry watch for good supplies of turkeys and broiler-fryer chickens.

AT THE FISH COUNTER, be on the lookout for plenty of fish fillets and steaks and canned salmon.

Lamb prices declined 1 to 2 cents a pound in most West Coast markets while beef prices showed a slightly higher trend. Beef loins and briskets advanced slightly in California markets and ribs were 4 to 5 cents higher a pound in Los Angeles.

Pork prices were generally uneven, although hams and bacon declined slightly in all markets along the coast.

Egg prices advanced 2 cents a dozen in San Francisco and 1 to 2 cents in Portland.

AMPLE SUPPLIES of ready-to-cook poultry are available and California shoppers may find slightly lower prices on young tom turkeys.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply are apples, avocados, cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce and potatoes.

Recommended fish buys for the west are: Canned salmon, canned tuna, halibut steaks, crabs and crab meat, and ling cod.

Program At Maringate School To Feature Psychology Talk

In observance of Nursery Education Week, March 6 to 12, the annual meeting of the Tamalpais and Maringate Nursery Schools on Tuesday will be an open house.

For the 8 p.m. program at the new Maringate Nursery School, which is located in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Marin City, Dr. William Pemberton will explore difficulties people have in communicating with each other. The speaker is a Mill Valley psychologist and member of the College of Marin faculty.

Mrs. Bruce Collins, president of the non-profit, charitable organization which operates both schools, said that Dr. Pemberton will deal with communication between parents in neighboring families, between teachers and young children and among children in relation to adults at home and in school.

The Maringate Nursery School is the only proportionately integrated racially and cross-cultural nursery school which is not tax supported in the North Bay and one of the few in Northern California, according to Mrs. Robert Bastian, executive director.

Enrollment is countywide, but the school was planned primarily as a tri-city service for families in Sausalito, Marin City and Mill Valley, where the Tamalpais Nursery School is located. Mrs. Grace Williams of Tiburon is the principal teacher.

On display between 7 and 8 p.m. on Tuesday will be candid photographs by Robert Overstreet of the Maringate children in action as well as an exhibit of the art and science work of the children.

Town & Country Village

Here comes Peter Cottontail . . . in the form of a ten-foot tall mechanical bunny. This beautiful big bunny will visit The Village on March 11th, 18th and 25th with Easter Egg treats (and prizes) for children accompanied by an adult.

For appropriate garb to greet The Rabbit, see the Easter fashions that are blooming like daffodils throughout The Village.

HAPPY HOUSE

Since the day we discovered it is much more practical to wash an apron than send a skirt to the cleaners, we have had a healthy respect for aprons. And, thank heavens, a number of designers have developed a healthy respect for cooks and made aprons extremely attractive. HAPPY HOUSE stocks any number of these aprons and is even having an almost-unheard-of sale in this department. Included in this sale, priced at $1.98 (values to $3.95) are those wonderful Vera prints and hand embroidered aprons from Portugal. New item at HAPPY HOUSE, terry aprons for both men and women . . . interesting selection of colors . . . priced at $2.25 and $3.50.

Noted the other day that the trusty dictionary describes a banquet as "a feast" . . . and that is a most apt description of a banquet at KUBLAI KHAN. The cuisine here is superb and the attractive atmosphere complements this excellent menu perfectly. Thoughtful arrangements at KUBLAI KHAN for smallish groups, so they don't feel lost in a huge room. If you think of the menu at this restaurant as strictly Oriental, you may be interested to hear that next week's Special of the Week will be Filet Mignon and New York Cut steak.

We found the shelves at CAPRICORN BOOKS "read" like a best-seller list . . . "The Riot," Frank Elli . . . "Hell's Angels," Hunter S. Thompson . . . "The Arrangement," Elia Kazan . . . "College of One," Sheilah Graham . . . "Fresh From the Laundry," Ilka Chase . . . "Thomas Woodrow Wilson," Sigmund Freud and William C. Bullitt. Darned good reading, in a choice of subjects to interest most everyone.

Say, Mabel, honey . . . if your cup doesn't exactly runneth over, see what THE HOUR GLASS has to offer the flat-ish figure. These are new items by Accentuette featurin g their Slant Cup (which, in turn, features you, dear girl!). There's a very pretty swimsuit of nylon tricot, bikini styling in a blue and green print. Also in nylon tricot, an "undie ensemble" of bikini panties, half slip and bra . . . these are sold separately, too.

According to what we've seen at EXPECTATION MATERNITY SHOP, mothers-to-be will "steal the show" at the Easter Parade this year. Many dress and coat ensembles . . . and some terribly good-looking suits. This year's fashion news, the Tent Dress, is well represented at EXPECTATION SHOP, too . . . a flattering, easy-to-wear style that is becoming a run-away favorite. Fine choice of fabrics and colors in this collection.

HICKORY FARMS OF OHIO tells us they are having a sale of Norwegian cheese, starting today, March 2nd and continuing through March 5th. If you are not familiar with this fine cheese, HICKORY FARMS has thoughtfully provided a demonstrator for your enlightenment, on March 3rd and 4th, from 10 to 6. This old country store is the perfect place to try any number of new-to-you cheeses, since you can always taste before you buy. Their selection is extraordinary, and their sales are downright sensational . . . for instance: HICKORY FARMS current sale of Norwegian cheese includes Jarlsburg & Nokkelost for 89c per pound, and Norbo for 79c per pound . . . all usually sell for $1.29 per pound.

Altogether now, gang . . . a short chorus of The Beer Barrel Polka, in honor of VILLAGE LIQUORS' latest special. This would be the tapper size keg of Falstaff beer, specially priced at $3.95 for a limited time. This tapper keg is perfect for your first out-of-doors entertaining of the season.

Looky, Cookie . . . see the pretty flowers . . . see the pretty unbelievable price of 19c . . . see ALBERTA OF MARIN soon! Imported spring blooms here so artfully artificial they'll fool the most avid gardener . . . and are guaranteed to whisk away winter doldrums. ALBERTA'S classes for Easter arrangements are in full swing . . . lots of makings here for Easter miniatures and wonderful table decorations.

Heard from TOWN & COUNTRY VILLAGE TV that they've expanded their service department to accommodate the popularity of their 9 to 9, weekdays, service hours. We understand this knowledgeable group is one of the few places in the county that can service transistorized and solid state equipment . . . they are experts, too, in the repair and maintenance of all type components, both foreign and domestic.

If all the chatter about spring flowers doesn't particularly "grab you," you may prefer the "blossoms" we spotted at VILLAGE JEWELERS. Lovely enameled flowers framed in gold . . . the perfect accompaniment for spring fashions. Also, pierced earrings in a similar enameled flower motif. Delightful springtime "bloomery."

Think spring fever has hit Chris Gartman, owner of The HICK'RY PIT . . . this congenial fellow is offering free dessert of home-made pie or cake with his complete dinners on Mon., Tues. and Wed. (March 6th-8th). Pastries at The HICK'RY PIT are truly home-made and simply delicious. If you have not tried these delicacies, mark the calendar to remember those dates next week . . . if you are familiar with HICK'RY PIT pastries, you probably left two sentences ago to "get in line."

Be sure to see the newest Rudi Gernreichs at LAILA OF NASIMO'S. Gernreich has absolutely flipped, and the results are sensational. He has taken Georgette in fabulous prints and fashioned the most outrageously feminine ensembles and cocktail gowns. (Even a female who has all the grace of a wooden soldier will look elegantly fetching in these swishy Gernreichs.) While in LAILA OF NASIMO'S, we noticed there are still a few sale prices on famous designer labels . . . these include some really excellent "buys."

We have a suggestion for those days when spring fever hits just as you approach the kitchen, to do something basic about dinner. Just whip on down to L'ENTREE and treat yourself and the family to one of Master Chef Louis Reimer's casseroles. All of these casseroles are so consistently good that no one will chide you for giving in to a bit of seasonal lassitude. L'ENTREE casseroles are available as complete dinners or as an entree only . . . and may we remind you to check their daily specials (dinner for two for $2.25).

ROMEO AND JULIET—Playing the classic roles in production of the New Shakespeare Company at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City, starting Friday, will be Sydney Daniels and Ted Lange.

'Romeo And Juliet' To Open At Marin City Church Friday

The New Shakespeare Company of San Francisco will give six special performances of its current production of "Romeo and Juliet" at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City, opening Friday.

Performances will be this Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11, March 17 and 18, all at 8:30 p.m.

The new interracial repertory company, formed last year, has completed nine performances of the play in San Francisco and was recently featured on KRON-TV's "Assignment Four" program.

Director Margrit Roma, who began her career with Bertolt Brecht in Berlin, is re-staging the play in the round especially for the Marin showings.

The company is rehearsing "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Alice in Wonderland" which will be played in repertory with "Romeo and Juliet" at their permanent home in Trinity Episcopal Church, San Francisco.

Featrued in the cast is Hal Carstens of San Anselmo as Capulet, father to Juliet.

Russian Expert Denies CIA Link

BERKELEY (UPI) — Russian history expert Martin E. Malia, 41, of the University of California flatly denied yesterday a Moscow report that he had served as an espionage agent for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party's official newspaper, listed the professor among a dozen American students and teachers it claimed were used by the CIA as agents.

"Never have I had any connection with the CIA," declared Malia.

Story Brings About News Chief's Ouster

FRANKFURT, Germany UPI)—The chief of news services for the U.S. Army in Europe was relieved of his command after he permitted publication of a story concerning the son of the U.S. Ambassador to West Germany, it was reported yesterday.

The officer is Col. George Moarnda. The story involved Michael A. McGhee, 19, son of U.S. Ambassador George McGhee.

The army newspaper Stars and Stripes, which was under Moranda. The story involved lished a story reporting that the younger McGhee had been arrested in California for driving under the influence of LSD.

The report that Moranda had been fired was published in Overseas Weekly in a story signed by its editor, Curtis Daniell. Overseas Weekly is a private publication specializing in news for U.S. servicemen and their families stationed abroad.

Daniell's report said Moranda "had his head chopped off" after arguing that the story about the younger McGhee should appear in Stars and Stripes.

Daniells said Moranda, a 22-year army veteran, was "called on the carpet" by Maj. Gen. Francis Pachler, chief of staff of the U.S. Army in Europe and "told to get out of Europe."

Orders were later issued assigning Moranda to the Pentagon Office of Information in Washington, he said.

In Bonn, a spokesmen for the U.S. Embassy said "there was no embassy pressure to have this story removed."

The spokesman added that Ambassador McGhee was "out of the country and out of touch with the embassy during the period of these events."

Puppet Theater Schedules Show

Opera Pupi, New Mill Valley puppet theater, will present its first light show next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the gallery of Mill Valley Library.

The theater was organized last year by reference librarian Ralph Moreno, his wife, Catherine, and Christopher Scott, Tamalpais High School junior. The light show evolved into a separate show, Moreno said, and puppets will not be added until May.

The light show "is the interaction of human beings, sound, liquid slide projections and an eight-circulit dimmer," he explained.

Money Asked In Death Of Rodents

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Ets-Hokin & Galvan Electric Co. was sued for $7,972 yesterday on grounds it negligently caused the mass death of 8,096 experimental mice.

The mice were killed Sept. 28, 1965, at the Navy Supply Depot in Oakland. They were owned by the Navy.

The Wallace Webb & Son Construction Co. of Hayward was hired by the government to do alteration work at the depot. The firm then hired Ets-Hokin & Galvan to do the electrical subcontracting.

The construction firm, in its Superior Court suit, charged that Ets-Hokin & Galvan "carelessly and negligently severed the electrical power supply to an exhaust fan serving one of the rooms at the depot," causing the death of the rodents.

The Navy refused to pay Wallace Webb & Son $7,972 because it said that was the cost of the mice. The appellant said that was why it was suing the electrical company.

Meeting Postponed

Last night's meeting of Loch Lomond Home Owners Association was postponed until March 22 at 8 p.m. in San Pedro School, San Rafael.

Little Theater May Be Formed

Approximately 30 persons have shown interest in an attempt to launch a little theater group in San Rafael, according to Paul McMullen, who is acting as temporary leader of the movement.

Two committees were set up Tuesday, McMullen said. One will see what facilities are available to house the theater group, and the second will study existing theater groups for guides to forming an organization here.

The group will meet again at 8 p.m. March 13 at the parish house of the Church of the Redeemer, 121 Knight Drive, San Rafael.

Larkspur Backs Off On Slide Area Aid

The Larkspur City Council last night made it clear that while the council is anxious to aid slide-threatened Greenbrae residents, it can not do so if city aid might result in the city's being sued.

Robert W. Bauer of 100 Via Navarro, whose house in the Greenbrae area of Larkspur lies directly below the slide which destroyed the home of W. G. Stone at 292 Via La Paz during January storms, attended last night's meeting to inquire about council plans for further work at the slide area.

City crews had helped cover the slide area with plastic, and the council had agreed to construct a ditch along the toe of the hill to the east above the slide area, on the property of Eastern Hills Co.

But City Atty. Robert W. Elliott said Stone refused to sign a liability release, so the city could be held liable for any damage resulting from the work.

"We were ready to do the work," Councilman Neil R. Brixon told Bauer. "But they have tied our hands."

"It's not because we don't want to be of assistance, because we do," Mayor Vaughn Marker added, "but we have a responsibility to the town."

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said some work could be done to aid drainage which would not affect the stone property. The council told him to check into what can be done, "provided the proper releases are obtained." Bathurst said that most residents had been very co-operative about signing releases.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

SEWER MAIN — Approved an agreement with the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District to relocate 385 feet of sewer main across Corte Madera Creek to facilitate flood control dredging. The city will have the 10-inch main replaced with 18-inch pipe for 3,200 feet through the marsh, a project estimated to cost $92,000. The flood control district will pay $30,000 of the cost of relocation.

STREET REPAIR — Approved filling a low pavement area on Magnolia Avenue in front of the Redwood Presbyterian Church with asphalt at a cost of $200.

DRIVEWAYS — Approved a policy guide for driveway construction allowing a maximum slope of 25 per cent, and requiring a 15-foot area in front of the garage with a maximum slope of 5 per cent, where possible.

REDWOOD HIGH — Adopted an ordinance rezoning part of Redwood High School grounds, previously unclassified, as residential.

ENCROACHMENTS — Reintroduced an ordinance regulating encroachments on public rights-of-way, with some revisions requested by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

SOIL TESTS — Adopted an amendment to the subdivision ordinance allowing the city to require developers to submit soil test results before filing a final map for a subdivision.

MULTIPLE DWELLINGS — Sent a planning commission receommendation for a 420 square foot minimum floor area for multiple dwelling units back to the commission for clarification on the purpose.

MATCHING FUNDS — Passed a resolution asking for elimination of matching fund provisions of the Collier-Unruh gas tax law.

DONATION — Accepted a $140 donation from the Larkspur Women's Club for park tables and benches.

DRAINAGE — Asked Bathurst to see that loose dirt on the property of Joseph Pell, at a construction site on Magnolia Avenue opposite Hillview Gardens, be compacted before the next rain to prevent it from washing onto Magnolia Avenue.

CORPORATION YARD — Asked Bathurst to investigate the possibility of acquiring property belonging to Inez Niven, across Doherty Drive from the present city corporation yard, as site for a new yard.

POLICE CONTRACT — Told Bathurst to gather information on the needs and costs of providing police protection to Kentfield, in case Marin County officials show further interest in having Kentfield contract with Larkspur for police protection.

Councilman Henry Brocco was absent.

Park Named For Former City Manager

Former Larkspur City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper achieved a sort of immortality last night: a park was named for him.

The Larkspur City Council, by 3-1 vote, named the city park on Doherty Drive "Ronald E. Piper Park."

Mayor Vaughn Marker was the dissenter. Councilmen Henry Brocco was absent.

Councilman Neil R. Brixon moved the park be named for Piper, declaring that as city manager he had done most of the work on developing it.

Mayor Marker wanted the city to ask the Lions Club or Larkspur Women's Club for name suggestions.

Former Mayor Daniel Allen, in the audience, protested that Piper "is too young to have a park named after him." He said some older resident, or a figure involved in the history of Larkspur, might better deserve the honor.

Piper is a business associate of Councilman Brixon.

Horned Toad Finds Defender

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The harmless horned toad has found a defender in State Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso.

Christie said he was burned up when he learned that hundreds of thousands of the toads are being shipped out of Texas for pets and curiosities.

"They go into strange environments in other parts of the country and die," he said. "One toad eats more than 40,000 insects a year.

To protect the horned toad, Christie introduced a bill in the Legislature yesterday to make it unlawful to trap the creatures for commercial purposes. Violators could be fined up to $200 and sentenced to jail up to 60 days.

Student Quiz Tests Marin Vote Habits

By CARLETON MacDONALD
Drake High School Student

In a project to discover what influences people to vote the way they do, Jacqueline Key's government classes at Sir Francis Drake High School are distributing questionnaires to residents in various areas of Marin.

From Sleepy Hollow to Marin City, from Sausalito to Woodacre, volunteers from the classes are asking for the cooperation of those they interview. Results will be compiled into statistics, which will be used to correlate the various groups, voting habits in Marin with the results of the recent gubernatorial election.

The questionnaires were drawn up by the government classes and compiled by Miss Key. They ask questions about what ethnic, religious, and economic groups the person feels he falls into, whether the "image" of the candidate affected the person's vote, what issues were influential, how he learned about the candidate. If he did not vote, the reason for that is asked.

Meets Tomorrow

Members of the San Rafael choral group for senior citizens will meet tomorrow at 10:30 a.m., and not March 10 as previously announced, at the home of director Katherine Smickler, 720 Pine Lane, Terra Linda, for practice and luncheon.

Harbor Planner Raises Kent Island Questions

Was the gift of Kent Island to the county specifically planned to throw a monkey wrench into Bolinas Harbor District Commission's plans for development of Bolinas Lagoon?

Mill Valley architect Norman T. Gilroy, who designed the plan said today he didn't know "but were it to be an impediment to that plan, the fact that it is county-owned makes it a very good thing."

Gilroy, speaking on Radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," raised some questions about the gift of the island to the county by Nature Conservancy, which none of the other panelists could answer.

Noting that the stated appraisal on the island was $172,000, Gilroy said: "I wonder what this is going to do to county parks purchase at the northern end of the lagoon. Will they be able to afford it?

"Also I wonder about the fact of there being deeds of trust on the property. Does the county in effect assume obligation if subscriptions aren't forthcoming?"

Eugene McDaniel, harbor district chairman, attributed gift to "consistent fear among opponents that the plan is too large. We had to have a fairly large plan in order to provoke interest of state and federal government agencies. We went to the limit of the concept in planning but had no intent that this would ever be reached."

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning in the county planning department, emphasized that the "fragile environment" of Bolinas was at stake in planning for West Marin. He compared the community to "the trash on Bodega Bay."

Answering a listeren's question about sewage seepage from boats if the lagoon were developed, Solnit said the county is already facing a problem of "deposition of thousands of gallons of raw untreated sewage" into the lagoon. If boats wer allowed in the lagoon, there would be both organic and petroleum pollution, he said.

McDaniels said contamination from boat waste could be solved by holding tanks. Gilroy said this was an object of research currently underway. He refused to compare the lagoon to Richardson Bay, which he referred to as "The Bay of Pigs, the worst conditions anywhere on the west coast."

Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, said acquisition of Kent Island has doubled county-owned park land. "Because of Marin's search for increasing tax base, people are reconciled to tourism," said Joske. "As far as that endeavour is concerned, the county could contribute to the development of a good tourist based commercial activity and growth."

Solnit termed the controversy over Bolinas Lagoon development "a microcosm of many problems afflicting the entire county, layer upon layer of governments. We find decisions about the final outcome being made by default, for instance recreation potential of the area being made by allowance of pollution right now."

Conducted by Kitty Openheimer, the program will be re-broadcast Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Lengthy Lunches Slow Business For Assembly

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, is having his problems under the schedule of committee meetings adopted eight years ago. When night committee meetings were eliminated, the Assembly started some committees meeting at 1:30 p.m., and others at 3 p.m. This year, certain committees will meet at 9 a.m. on Fridays.

Members late getting back from lunch for the 1:30 sessions, argued that the full Assembly meetings have carried on until well after noon. Unruh ordered the Assembly floor sessions be moved from 11 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., to make certain the morning sessions ended on time.

Yesterday the new schedule began. The Assembly convened at 1030 a.m. and recessed at about 11:25.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, which was to have an orientation session on Gov. Ronald Reagan's $4.6 billion budget, was scheduled for 1:30 p.m., and finally got a quorum at 2:06 p.m.

Auto Rollover Hurts Youths In Greenbrae

A young driver and his passenger were injured today when a car overturned on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, at 12:35 a.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

The driver, Patrick Clifton Fuller, 19, of 137 Terrace Avenue, Kentfield, was treated for head contusions at Marin General Hospital. His passenger, Richard John Cuff, 19, of 708 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, was treated for back contusions at the same hospital, then transferred to Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital.

Machine Found

A 300-pound soft drink vending machine, stolen early Tuesday from Mill Valley Coin Wash, Lomita Drive and Ashford Avenue, was found yesterday in Tiburon by sheriff's deputies near 2900 Paradise Drive. The $559 machine, minus about $3 and a few cans of soda, was discarded on the embankment of the road.

CLARK G. HENRY
Medal for heroism

WINS SILVER STAR

Novato Marine Captain Cited For Heroic Acts

The Silver Star, America's third highest military honor, has been awarded to Marine Maj. Clark G. Henry Of Novato for gallantry in Vietnam.

He is only the second Marin resident so honored for heroism in that war.

The 40-year-old officer was presented the medal in recent Vietnam ceremonies for helping prevent a regiment of North Vietnamese from over-running a battalion of which he is executive officer.

The action occurred last July 18 during Operation Hastings when the 3rd Battalion, 4th Regiment, First Marine Division was searching for a division of North Vietnamese south of the 17th parallel.

According to wire service reports at the time, the enemy attacked at whistle commands as the battalion was moving to a new position.

"They came in waves," Henry said later. "There were a thousand of them, and that's speaking conservatively. We didn't have over 300 Marines."

When one company got pinned down, Henry organized a relief force which rushed to its aid. He then coordinated defenses against superior firepower.

That night, Henry carried a seriously wounded Marine 300 yards to safety despite heavy small arms and mortar fire.

The major, minus his shirt, helmet, weapon and other gear, led the survivors to a new position under air and aritillery support, but first waited until the last of the wounded were evacuated by helicopters.

The attack cost the enemy about 500 dead or wounded; the Marines also suffered heavy casualties.

Henry, of 1040 Second Street, Novato, is former inspector-instructor of Company M of the 3rd Battalion, 23rd Regiment, 4th Marine Division, at the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center in San Rafael. He also owns the Northern California School of Judo in Novato.

Marin's other Silver Star winner is Sp4 Herman G. Zwirtz of San Rafael, who pulled two soldiers to safety, then covered his unit's retreat and evacuation by helicopter in action near the Cambodian border last November.

Notary Public

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to James A. G. Grant Jr., 95 El Capitan Drive, San Rafael.

Conditions Back To Near Normal At San Quentin

San Quentin Prison last night opened its gates to the first group of outside visitors since security was tightened following the near-riot among prisoners there Jan. 16.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park described conditions at the prison today as "basically at normal operation."

Night activities involving outside organizations such as Alcoholics Anonymous are being re-established, he said, although it may take a few days to notify sponsors officially.

The authorities decided to restrict most contacts between inmates and outside bodies in the wake of the strike among some Neegro prisoners six weeks ago.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's Pacific Northwest Laboratory at Richland, Wash., found that a light dose of radiation from a cobalt-60 source will interrupt a potato's normal 60 to 90-day rest period before sprouting and cause it to start growing prematurely.

Jury Deadlocks In Zink Case

The drunken driving case of former Sausalito police Lt. Theodore C. Zink resulted in a hung jury in Marin Municipal Court early today after 12 hours deliberation.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. scheduled setting for new trial for next Thursday.

Zink, 27, of 7 Knoll Road, Mill Valley, allegedly was driving while drunk Dec. 9 on Seminary Drive. Sausalito police arrested him. Trial began last Thursday.

Zink resigned from the Sausalito force Nov. 30 after being placed on indefinite leave of absence on Nov. 16. Police Chief Edward S. Krein said Zink left "for personal reasons."

WHY is the CO-OP coming to Marin?

Because 1500 Marin families wanted their own Co-op store! And because the first reason for a Co-op to open is to serve its member-families' wants and needs.

Co-op member-families own their own Co-op stores . . . share in the business earnings . . . have a say on how their own grocery business is run. 40,000 Bay Area families like owning their own Co-ops (seven East Bay markets) in their own neighborhoods. You'll be glad the Co-op is coming to Marin in March. Curious? Call 924-5200 11-3, Mon-Fri.

First public event in the new auditorium will be the school musical, "Annie Get Your Gun," opening March 10. Among new euqipment is the traveling spotlight which student Charles Kinsel (right) operated today in preparation for its use at the musical. SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION Thurs., March 2, 1967 23

No Word As Yet On Courthouse

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The City of San Rafael today appeared in no hurry to make an offer to the county for purchase of the courthouse block.

County supervisors were expecting an offer from the city Tuesday, but County Administrator Alan Bruce asked that discussion of the sale be postponed until next week at the city's request.

Today, City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said he did not think there would be any offer from the city for one or two more weeks.

Sale of the courthouse was almost accomplished late last year when Harry H. Heifetz offered $900,000 for the property, saying his partner, cosmetics manufacturer William Penn Patrick, planned to use the building for offices.

The board of supervisors even set a date for bids at one point, but canceled it after the city asked for time to try to purchase the downtown block.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said today that $880,275 is needed to complete financing of the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center, to be completed near the end of 1968.

The county must know by June how much it will get from the courthouse sale, Mitchell said. If it falls short of the $880,275, the balance will have to be raised through property taxes in the next fiscal year.

Mitchell said there must be a firm offer, preferably cash in hand, by June.

Andersen today said he will report to the San Rafael City Council on appraisal of the city's seven acres on San Francisco Boulevard, but he did not see how the council could base an offer on the courthouse on an appraisal of the other property.

"We'll have to wait until we sell it," Andersen said, explaining that the Francisco Boulevard property was the only ready source of funds for purchase of the courthouse.

The Francisco Boulevard property must be sold through public auction, which will require further delay for public notice. Also, Andersen said, the city may find that it can get a better price by subdividing the property prior to sale, which would take more time.

Heifetz at one time offered to buy the courthouse and trade it to the city for the Francisco Boulevard property, but that was his final attempt at dealing with supervisors. Since then he has withdrawn all offers.

Blood Reserves Depleting Fast

Patients are using blood faster than donors are giving it this week, Phyllis Widdershoven of the Marin Blood Center of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank said today.

The center needs to draw 293 units of blood tomorrow from all Irwin facilities to meet patients' needs, supply blood for heart surgery scheduled, and keep emergency reserves on hand.

The Marin Blood Center at 506 Fourth Street, San Rafael, will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Arrest Is Made On Non-Support

Jacob Cornelius Fischer, 51, of 1870 Vistazo West Street, Tiburon, was booked at the county jail yesterday on a non-support warrant.

Tiburon Sheriff's Deputy Joseph G. Kelly made the arrest at 5:15 p.m. at Fischer's home.

Price Fixing Probe Of Chemicals Made

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney today began seeking information from sanitary districts in the county to see if there is evidence of price fixing on chlorine and other chemicals.

His investigation was prompted by suits against some companies in several other areas, charging violation of the federal anti-trust act from 1955 to 1967.

Teens Picket Over Firing Car Washer

The car washer at Dervin Ford Co. in Novato was so popular with neighborhood kids that when he lost his job, they went to bat for him.

In the good od American tradition, they petitioned and picketed trying to get his job back.

Object of their sympathy was Virgil Robinson, 25, of Vallejo, who has worked at Dervin's at 7401 Redwood Highway for two years.

Joel and Carl Jordan of 1037 First Street; Susie, Terry and Guy Valim of 1033 First Street and Steve James of 771 Diablo Avenue, all Novato, circulated a petition to get his job back. They got more than 20 signers along First Street in back of the garage.

"Are you ready to negotiate?" they asked Larry Dervin, owner, over the phone. When he refused, they took the petition to him, asking him to sign it.

He did with an X, but still would not rehire his fired employee.

So the youngsters picketed the garage with signs reading, "We want Virgil," until after dark last night.

Dervin said Virgil still would not be rehired.

Marin City Group Backs Police Plan

Marin City Homeowners and Improvement Association last night endorsed recent county steps to improve police protection in the community, reported Mrs. Louise Page, secretary.

County supervisors last month authorized $22,300 for a special police force in response to complaints from residents that Marin City was a "criminals' paradise."

Association members also endorsed re-establishment of a Marin City sheriff's substation, said Mrs. Page. A trailer is to be set up as a substation at the end of the fiscal year.

The 20 persons at the monthly meeting in the Boy's Club of Southern Marin approved plans by Marin City Community Services District to remodel and expand the Manzanita Neighborhood Center. Work on the center is to begin this spring.

Mrs Moses Beard, Jesse E. Berry and Alex Holloway were appointed to nominate officers for 1967 at a special meeting March 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Boy's Club, 640 Drake Avenue.

San Franciscan Hurt In Accident

A San Franciscan driving his new car on Shoreline Highway ran off a sharp curve two miles south of the Tomales-Petaluma Road at 9:3; p.m. yesterday and suffered minor injuries, California Highway Patrol reported.

Martin Lewis Dockstader, 25, told the patrol he had been driving the car only two weeks. He refused hospitalization.

Tax Exemptions Versus New Revenue Sources

Sen. John F. (Jack) McCarthy's proposal to eliminate the household goods tax is certain to receive widespread acceptance, both in Marin County and throughout the state.

As the Marin senator points out, the household goods tax "is universally condemned by tax experts as inequitable, difficult to assess uniformly throughout the state and expensive to administer."

Assessors have acknowledged that the assessing of household effects must be arbitrary at best. They have neither the staff nor the inclination to snoop through every room of every household to appraise furniture, jewelry, art pieces and stamp collections.

Even if these items could be tabulated, their values differ so widely that an accurate appraisal would be almost impossible. Custom designed jewelry may be highly valued for sentimental reasons but have only scrap value in the market place. On the other hand, a fine coin or stamp collection may command higher market value than all of the household furniture combined.

In many cases, the cost of administering the household goods tax would not justify the amount of revenue that comes from this source.

Along with this proposal to abolish the household goods tax is the move to eliminate the business inventory tax on a graduated basis.

The business inventory tax has been the source of irritation among businessmen, who each year attempt to deplete their stocks on the first Monday of March, the day when the inventory is appraised. Many large firms leave their stocks in warehouses in Nevada until after the inventory day.

Businesses that must stock up heavily to meet seasonal demands in February and March suffer as a result.

One way of solving this inequity would be to assess business inventory by taking an average of the stocks over a one-year period.

Another way would be to phase out the business inventory tax over several years, as proposed in the McCarthy legislation.

This would be acceptable, if another source of income can be found to replenish the revenues the county now gets from the business inventory tax.

Without some form of substitute revenue, it stands to reason that the loss in business inventory tax will have to be made up in added property tax, the very form of taxation which is crying loudest for relief.

In the elimination of the business inventory tax, we hope the legislators have some alternate revenue source in mind so that the load will not be shifted onto property taxpayers.

Vietnam War Called Possible To Avoid

Editor, Independent-Journal:

During the past weeks there have been many letters in your columns about the war in Vietnam, both pro and con. You are to be commended for printing letters with all points of view, regardless of your own feelings.

I should like to add my voice to those who are protesting the war and who are writing weekly cards to their Congressmen and Senators and the President, telling them to work for immediate negotiations to end the war.

Gunfire and bombings kill soldiers, but also mothers, children and grandparents. Gunfire and bombings kill North Vietnamese soldiers, but also South Vietnamese soldiers and American soldiers. Casualties in war cannot be avoided, but this war can be avoided.

If we insist on a ceasefire, and stop bombing, and are willing to talk to those whom we are fighting, there may be peace. Even an uneasy peace is better than an uneasy war.

Education Costly, Tuition Or Not

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: Feb. 22 editorial.

I was pleased to note your charitable awareness that society eventually benefits from the services provided by college graduates, but it still leaves me with a feeling that you don't really mean it. Especially when you follow it with a statement that, "It doesn't seem unreasonable to ask the students to chip in $100 or $200." Anyone as informed as you knows a little more than that is involved, such as:

1. It is common knowledge that any serious student at the university doesn't just breeze through and pick up his degree. He works very hard for it.

2. Whether or not a student lives or commutes to classes it costs a minimum of $1,800 per year.

3. Each year he is in school, it costs him $6,000 or $7,000 in loss of earnings from any job he would otherwise be working on.

The last two items are really hard cash and a cost to him unless you follow Reagan's type of accounting and it seems that you do.

Shoreline Highway Needs More Caution

Editor, Independent-Journal:

. . . Your several editorials citing the need for the improvement of the Shoreline Highway . . . overlook the basic factor, namely the incompetancy of a high percentage of our drivers. We who live in the area have no problems. . . .

When the State Park at Stinson puils 10,000 or more on a sunny Saturday or Sunday, any casual survey will show that a substantial majority are under 25. Because of the way they drive our roads, we residents stay at home whenever possible. Our first need is for more CHP control.

We have no objection to improvement of Shoreline as a scenic road but we do not want a 4 lane freeway with 200 to 300 feet cuts and fills. . . . Route 17, not the Shoreline, is the most practical access to the National Seashore. . . .

. . . We resent the rowdyism and garbage on our beach which the State Park has produced. We don't want the further invasion of a million or more visitors to the National Seashore racing through this scenic area on a 4 lane freeway.

Most of Marin's recreational facilities lie in West Marin. . . . To attempt to serve them with four lane freeways would . . . create a Southern California mob scene. . . .

We residents . . . would rather have your editorial comments on our 100 per cent tax increase this year, and why our cost of county government has increased nearly 80 per cent the past six years vs. a population increase of some 30 per cent.

Need To Show Youth The Way

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is sad to behold the spectacle of bearded beatniks, masculine appearing women and radical professors marching to the capital in Sacramento. It is even more deplorable to watch them refuse to allow the governor to answer their petition against budget cuts and tuition at the University of California. Their loud jeering reminded one of the hysterical ravings of the inmates of a mental institution rather than the well bred remarks of the students of a great university.

Perhaps the analogy is correct. A great many of these students are the emotionally disturbed offspring of emotionally unstable parents. Such people very often unconsciously reject their children while they selfishly pursue the hallucinations of their own neuroticism. Science has wrought such great changes in our modern world that the comfortable security of our traditional institutions, folkways and mores has been challenged. As a result a great many people find themselves adrift on a stormy sea instead of walking on solid ground.

When one is emotionally insecure it is virtually impossible to know the truth. They cannot see that principles are eternal; only appearances change. They are unable to comprehend that sex without love is degrading, daydreaming without constructive effort is aimless and debate without give and take is fruitless.

If we are to save America and the world from self-destruction the responsible citizens must help these young people to find the truth by sincere effort, example and inspiration. The mature must open their thoughts, their hearts and their arms to persuade the immature to open their eyes, their ears and their minds.

Three Asia Developments Help Prospects Of Vietnam Victory

WASHINGTON — Three new developments bear favorably on the war in Vietnam:

1—The anti-Communist government of Indonesia is acquiring the strength and stability to act on its own. One of its first steps is to move toward a regional military alliance to protect the independence of Southeast Asia.

2—Mao Tse-tung openly admits that his "cultural revolution" is not only out of control but out of steam, that it is not succeeding and that he is going to have to divide his power. The effect is to further enfeeble Peking's hand as a source of aid and influence with North Vietnam.

3—Mao's preoccupation with turmoil and chaos at home means turning Hanoi almost entirely over to Moscow. In consequence the Soviet Union is now providing 80 per cent of military supplies to keep the war going, Red China 5 per cent, and North Vietnam 15 per cent. This means that Moscow's decisive role in supplying the war will be increasingly visible to the world.

THE SOVIETS can no longer shrug their shoulders and say they did their best to persuade Hanoi to negotiate. They can no longer get away with saying that they tried to get Hanoi to match U.S. willingness to end the bombing with some de-escalation on Hanoi's side but that the Soviets could exert no influence.

Today Moscow has decisive influence. It can cut off 80 per cent of Hanoi's military supplies and thus make negotiation possible or it can refuse to do so and let it be evident to the whole world that the Soviet Union wants to keep the war going.

WE OUGHT to know which in the next few weeks.

Hong Kong's foremost China-watcher, Dr. L. La Dany, whose "China News Analysis" goes to governments and political scientists in more than 40 countries, renders this judgment in an interview with U.S. News and World Report:

"I look for continued disorder and turmoil in China. The army is tied down by this domestic disruption, and Chinese leaders are already preoccupied with internal problems. For all practical purposes, Communist Chinese foreign policy has become nonexistent.

"PEACE COULD COME unexpectedly in Vietnam as a result of the China situation."

Since this forecast, Mao's position has become even more uncertain and the probability of more divisive strife is increased by the fact that neither side has won, that Mao has had to cut back his purge in mid-failure, and that uncertainty will dominate decision-making for some time to come.

The gathering strength of the Suharto government in Indonesia is a boon to all Southeast Asia. General Suharto has not only called off the war with Malaysia but is now talking about an anti-aggression military alliance of Asian countries which have heretofore been too divided to defend themselves collectively.

General Suharto is significantly suggesting the need for a "joint defense setup in Southeast Asia" and, on the eve of stripping Sukarno of his presidential powers, he sent a trusted colleague to Kuala Lumpur to suggest the idea of a military alliance between Indonesia, Malaysia, and other Southeast Asian countries.

ALL THESE developments are of great moment including the new strength of Indonesia and the new weakness of Red China. And when the world recognizes that the Soviets have the power to send Hanoi to the peace table by cutting off its military supplies, it may not be as easy for Moscow to play both sides — peace and war.

Garrison May Link Oswald With Cubans

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—In his controversial probe of President Kennedy's assasination, New Orleans' District Attorney Jim Garrison is apparently attaching great importance to evidence given the Warren Commission by Mrs. Sylvia Odio, a member of a militant Cuban refugee group.

Records here show that his investigators have obtained from the files of the National Archives copies of Mrs. Odio's testimony, "working papers" of the commission, and three FBI reports covering the investigation of her story linking two Cubans to Oswald.

IN BOTH her testimony to the Commission and FBI interviews, Mrs. Odio reported that three men, including one she believed to be Oswald, came to her room in Dallas in September, 1963, to seek aide for a Cuban exile-group she helped organize in Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Odio, who moved to Florida from Dallas after the assassination, identified two of her callers as Cubans and the third an American, introduced as Leon Oswald. She said the trio told her they had just arrived from New Orleans.

One of the Cubans, known only as Leopoldo, telephoned next day and said he wanted to introduce Leon Oswald into the anti-Castro underground. Leopoldo said Leon Oswald was a former Marine and quoted him as saying: "Cubans don't have any guts because President Kennedy should have been assassinated after the Bay of Pigs."

Probably, the most interesting information that Garrison's investigators discovered in the FBI report was a statement that Mrs. Odio had attempted suicide since appearing before the commission.

Garrison, who launched his sensational probe several months ago, has investigators in Florida trying to locate Mrs. Odio for further questioning and to determine why she attempted to take her own life.

THE DEATH of David Ferrie, the pilot who was a central figure in the New Orlean's inquiry, has caused Garrison to intensify his investigation of the leads Mrs. Odio originally furnished the commission.

One report being checked is that Ferrie, no relation to the Ferre mentioned in the FBI report, flew Oswald and the Cubans to Dallas from New Orleans on the day Mrs. Odio says they visited her.

Commission documents on file in the archives indicate that its investigators and the FBI went to great length to check all possible means of transportation by which Oswald might have made the trip. There is no evidence that Oswald ever made the trip or was in Dallas at the time. One journey which Oswald did make in September, 1963, was from New Orleans by bus to Mexico Ctiy.

ALSO BEING probed by Garrison is whether Oswald carried on his person "a curriculum vitae" which covered several sheets of notepaper, presumably dealing with information on his pro-Castro activities in the U.S.

Two British tourists on the same bus indicated that Oswald was looking at a document, similar to those furnished undercover agents by CIA or KGB, the Soviet's secret espionage-intelligence agency.

A STILL-SECRET CIA report on Oswald's "September activities," which was sent to the State Department's intelligence division on Oct. 11, 1963, or about six weeks before the assassination, could possibly shed some new light on the Mexican trip, and possibly other links of the accused assassin.

TEETH STRAIGHTENED BY BREAKING JAW

A broken jaw can now be the first step to health and beauty. A Swiss dental surgeon has developed a technique for correcting overbite in adults by fracturing the jaw, moving it to a new position, and wiring it in place.

The upper and lower jaws are kept in a closed position from four to six weeks. The patient must feed himself through a straw, but is able to continue working.

Until the new technique was developed, overbite could be corrected only in children, usually between the ages of eight and 15 years, through fitted braces.

Uncorrected overbite, apart from being unsightly, prevents a person from chewing his food. Pyorrhea often results, causing loss of teeth.

If persons are willing to resort to such drastic measures to protect their health and improve their appearance, how much more ready should they be to endure any privation to save their immortal souls.

Such sacrifice made today may have untold rewards for all eternity.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Tax-Sharing Ideas Really Only Increasing Bureaucrats' Grip

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Eventually, the public will be forced to make a great discovery with regard to the many plans, suggestions and panaceas being presented these days concerning the matter of "tax-sharing" between different levels of government.

Several bills have been presented to the California legislature to effect what law-makers term property tax relief, to be achieved by the process of cutting down property taxes at the local level, and increasing state taxes to make up the difference.

A SOMEWHAT similar proposal at the federal level is offered by Gov. George Romney, of Michigan, who apparently hopes to be the next president of the United States.

Romney suggests an amendment to the U.S. constitution which would allot a percentage of federal income tax revenues for the use of state and local governments.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California advocated during his campaign that property taxes in California be decreased, and the difference made up by state allocation to local governments.

TWO THINGS are fairly obvious in both proposals. The money for the rebate has to come from some tax source. The obvious question is where? Would federal income taxes be increased to pay the rebates, and if so, would state and local taxes be decreased to prevent additional burdens on the taxpayer?

Secondly, proposals already have been made for increases in state taxes to provide reductions in local taxes.

ALL OF WHICH brings out the discovery that tax shuffling brings no lasting tax relief. Rather, it adds to the over-all burden through the creation of more bureaucracy to handle the peoples' money.

In addition, it points to nothing except more meddling in local affairs by the state government, and more federal fingers in the state pie from Washington.

Unfortunately for the taxpayers, government leaders do not appear to realize that tax reform, which presupposes some reduction in taxation, is achieved primarily by two methods. The first is economy in government, which includes the application of business principles to administration. The second is elimination of non-essential government services, or reductions in such services based on their actual need.

CONTINUED TAX levies on the public to maintain government in potentate style when the public can afford only a middle class outgo, eventually can result only in deflating the economy of the state and nation itself. While no one objects to reasonable taxes to defray necessary government costs, there is objection to confiscatory levels which rapidly are being approached.

"That's the best advice I ever had," enthused Friendly. "I'll do it."

Students' Controversy Series Lacks The Old Drawing Power

The year 1967 is proving to be a bad year for controversy at the College of Marin.

The "Controversy '66" series, begun last semester, usually attracted more students than the student center meeting room could hold comfortably, and the question-and-answer period following the lecture was likely to last longer than the lecture. Students asked questions as long as the speaker would allow.

The lectures covered politics from the far left to the far right, Vietnam, sex, race relations, birth control, religion and other subjects of comparable interest, and the speakers were first rate.

BUT RESPONSE to this semester's "Controversy '67" series has been spotty, at best. ies has been spotty, at best. Two of this semester's four lectures were as successful as any last semester, but two were complete flops.

Associated Students public relations commissioner Richard Giovannoli, who started the series, was clearly embarrassed when only seven students turned out to hear Charles Crettien, deputy consul general of France, speak on France's position on Vietnam. Crettien proceeded as gracefully as if he had a fall-semester audience, although the talk seemed somewhat short.

LAST FALL'S enthusiastic questioners might have made some protest to Crettien's refusal to answer questions on his topic, but the few students attending this talk shared Giovannoli's embarrassment at their small number and were in no mood to argue with Crettien about a question period. He agreed to answer questions on other aspects of French foriegn policy, but the questions were all answered in less than 15 minutes.

Otis Brown, a Mississippi project worker and a later Controversy speaker, fared even worse. Brown's small audience did not even include anyone to introduce him. The lecture was scheduled to start at noon, and about a dozen students appeared by 12:15 p.m., by which time it became obvious that none of the officers of the Associated Students, sponsors of the series, would attend.

BROWN SKIPPED any thought he might have had of giving a lecture, and told his small audience he would answer any questions. The whole awkward thing was over in about half an hour.

Bettina Aptheker, a senior at the University of California and a self-proclaimed member of the American Communist Party, drew the same standing-room-only crowd she drew last semester, a ray of hope for the survival of the series. Miss Aptheker spoke on Gov. Ronald Reagan's budget cuts and tuition proposal.

LAST SEMESTER, students' questions centered more on her Communist Party membership than on her topic, but the questions this semester were on alternate proposals to Reagan's tuition proposal, and ways of financing education.

San Francisco columnist Art Hoppe also drew a crowd of about 150 students for an informal discussion of anything the students wanted to discuss, and the talk was so successful that in Giovannoli's words, "Hoppe had to be practically carried out when he had to leave at 1:30 p.m. and the students still weren't through asking questions."

THE FACT THAT the student center public address system was broken, that Associated Students publicity commissioner Pamela McKinney was not appointed until last Thursday, and that students are busy with routine scheduling problems at the beginning of a semester may explain partially the two flops.

Giovannoli has been remarkably successful at getting first rate speakers to contribute to the lecture series, but if response continues to be uncertain, he may hesitate before inviting a speaker.

TUESDAY DR. CHAUNCEY D. LEAKE of the University of California Medical School in San Francisco will speak on "Alcoholism and Drug Addiction," and on March 14, Synanon residents will talk on Synanon and the "Synanon Game." Both lectures are scheduled at noon in Room A of the student center.

Stenotyping Course Slated

A course in machine shorthand or stenotyping will be offered in the spring term by the Novato Adult Evening High School, according to Robert McKeay, principal.

Charles Kelsea of the judge advocate's office at Hamilton Air Force Base will be instructor.

In addition to tuition for the course, textbooks and supplies, students may rent or purchase the machines, McKay said. The class will open March 27.

Tools Are Stolen

Someone took between $400 and $500 worth of tools from under the bench in his garage at 873 Tamalpais Avenue, Novato, Bobby Jack Bartlett reported yesterday to Novato police. He said the theft occurred while he was away between Feb. 5 and 20.

MORRIE RYSKIND

Gunsmoke Hero Can't Survive With Modern Courts' Ways

MY PAPER brings the sad news that "Gunsmoke" will no longer grace TV after this season, and I shall miss Matt Dillon, the doughty sheriff who maintained law and order in Dodge City, and all his crew.

Saturday nights won't be the same without the attractive Kitty, who could run a saloon and yet remain every inch a lady; the crotchety Doc, who could bljster you with words even as he gently dressed a wound; and the delightful Festus, ingenuous but ingenious, who might mooch a meal but was a tower of strength when the chips were down.

McKINLE YCHARACTERS, all, and their horse-and-buggy virtues are out of tune with this advanced age. I thought the writing, in the main, excellent, but the plots were never involved with homosexuality, and Kitty's saloon — would you believe it? — featured nary a topless dancer. Small wonder the ratings dropped, and that Dodge City will have, if revived, a new sheriff more familiar with modern law as laid down by the Warren Court.

Speaking of which, the same issue of the paper carries a UPI dispatch from New York that I've clipped and added to a file of similar cases. Here's the gist of the latest one:

The bodies of a mother and her five young children are found, knifed to death, by the superintendent of their tenement apartment in Brooklyn. Shortly afterward, the husband and father confesses to the horrendous crime, saying he slew the six victims after an argument with his wife.

THERE IS NOT, mind you, the slightest doubt about his guilt or the complete authenticity of his confession. There is no possibility that the prisoner was framed, and no such claim is put forth in his behalf. He did it — and he alone. On his bloody hands lies the sole responsibility for the brutal murders.

Had that happened in Dodge City under Matt Dillon, the criminal would have been put behind bars to await a jury trial. The evidence would then be examined by twelve good men and true — and no skillful city lawyer would have got the prisoner off. In all probability, he would have been sentenced to be hanged; at the best, he would have rotted in prison the rest of his lige.

But, happily, times have changed. So, in New York, that murderer walks the streets today, as free as you or I. And who were, Matt Dillon would have asked, the shifty and tricky lawyers, so adept at finding legal loopholes, whose adroit maneuvers saved the slayer from his just deserts? Were they the slippery shysters the crime syndicates used to depend on?

NO, MATT, it was a group of men carefully selected for their integrity and sworn to uphold the law. It was, in short, the members of the eminently respectable Supreme Court who acted as the killer's mouthpieces.

In one of their solemn conclaves, the great minds of the sacred Court decided that murderers as a class weren't getting a fair break from society and ordained certain legal refinements to insure that these underprivileged folk would have the same right to life, liberty, and their own peculiar pursuit of happiness as non-killers. If anything, a little more.

And so the New York District Attorney was compelled to make a motion to dismiss the charges, since the defendant's confession was the only evidence the state could produce. Unfortunately, none of the victims had lived long enough to corroborate the confession.

AND THE JUDGE was thereupon forced to release the prisoner, even though he was unjudicially moved to say, "It makes my blood run cold and my stomach turn to let a thing like this out on the streets."

I trust the Bar Association will properly censure the judge for presuming to question a decree of the Warren Court. It is loose talk of this sort that makes for distrust of our sacred institutions and could, in the end, destroy America.

Matt Dillon at least had the decency to turn his badge in.

Scholarship To Be Given Once Again

Marin County Real Estate Board's annual $500 cash scholarship for graduating high school seniors who will attend college has been announced by Daniel F. Deedy, executive manager.

Known as the Archie Culpepper Award, the scholarship is open to all seniors in all high schools in Marin County who have been residents here for two years or more.

An applicant does not have to intend majoring in business or real estate in college, but must be "a well rounded student with the ability to get along with his fellowman," Deedy said.

Students may apply by letter through their school principal's office to Marin County Real Estate Board, P.O. Box 1167, San Rafael.

Last year's winner was Mark Moore of Novato High School.

✲ ✲ ● ● SYMBOLS FOR STARS IN ORDER OF BRIGHTNESS

MARCH'S BRIGHT SKIES

Three Planets Gleam Nightly

By JAMES STOKELEY
Science Service

If you think that the evening skies are now more brilliant than usual at this time of year, you are quite right— they are.

Added to the display of bright stars always visible on late winter evenings are three prominent planets. Two of them — Venus and Jupiter — are brighter than any of the stars. The third, Mars, is exceeded only by Sirius, the "dog star."

The first to appear is Venus. On March 1 it remains above the western horizon for more than two hours after sunset and at the month's end this is extended to nearly three hours. It is so prominent that you can see it in the west while the evening twilight is still quite bright.

Jupiter is high in the south, in the constellation of Gemini, the twins. Although less than a third as bright as Venus, it is so brilliant that you will have no trouble locating it.

At the first of the month Mars rises in the east about four hours after sunset and about two hours after on March 31. Brighter than any star in that part of the sky and distinctly red, it is easy to identify. It is about a tenth as bright as Jupiter.

The accompanying maps show the appearance of the skies about 10 p.m., your own kind of standard time, at the first of March; 9 p.m. on the 15th; and 8 p.m. on the 31st. The position of Jupiter is about the same all month; that of Venus (in Aries, the ram) is its location at month's end.

March brings a welcome event on the 21st, at 2:37 a.m. EST. (1:37 a.m. CST, 12:37 a.m. MST and 11:37 p.m., PST). This is the vernal equinox; in the Northern Hemisphere it marks the beginning of spring. The sun, which has seemed to be moving northward in the sky since the beginning of winter on Dec. 22, reaches the halfway point. At the time of the equinox it will stand directly over a point on the equator, in the Indien Ocean about 1,000 miles southwest of the tip of India.

Because the March full moon comes only four days after the vernal equinox, and because that day, the 25th, is a Saturday, Easter comes unusually early this year. It is Sunday, March 26, earlier than it has been since 1951, when it was on March 25. In 1978 Easter will again come on the 26th, as it will in 1989. But not until 2008 will it come any earlier — on March 23.

The rule for the Easter date was adopted by the first Council of the Christian Churches at Nicaea, in Asia Minor, in 325 A.D. In essence, this ruling says that Easter should be observed on the first Sunday following the first full moon after March 21, an ecclesiastical date fixed by church authorities as the date of vernal equinox or spring. This full moon is also called the Paschal full moon. The Paschal moon is that moon whose 14th day in its cycle from new crescent to full falls on or after March 21.

In order to avoid having Easter and Passover fall on the same day, the Council decreed that if the Paschal full moon falls on a Sunday, then Easter will be the following Sunday.

Easter can come as early as March 22, if March 21 is a Saturday and also the day of the Paschal full moon. It fell on that date in 1761 and also in 1818, but will not do so again until after 2100.

The latest date for Easter is April 25. This occurred last in 1943 and will do so again in the year 2038.

Sun Due To Pose For First Radio-Movies

By SCIENCE SERVICE

At Culgoora in the hot Australian inland 350 miles from Sydney, scientists have been working on a project which involves taking the first radio moving pictures of the sun.

Two new instruments designed and built in Australia, a radio heliograph and a cinemagnetograph, will produce these pictures and allow solar astronomers to watch the weather on the sun from minute to minute.

The instruments have been designed for this purpose alone and may help to unravel one of the most important unsolved problems in our solar system—the mystery of the gigantic explosions and storms which periodically occur in the sun's atmosphere.

The radio heliograph, a huge ring of aerials two miles in diameter, will allow scientists to make detailed observations of the radio noise emitted in the sun's atmosphere during a storm. The cinemagnetograph, a 12-inch telescope mounted 50 feet above the ground and subject to full thermal control, will observe the changing magnetic fields on the sun's surface.

Scientists are interested in the sun for many reasons, one being the dominating influence which the sun has on earth and the space surrounding it.

The outstanding example of a solar disturbance showing notable effects on earth is a solar flare. Optically, a flare is seen in monochromatic light as a transient brightening of a restricted area on the solar disk, but the associated effects are much more dramatic.

The energy released in a large flare is millions of times greater than the largest manufactured hydrogen bombs. The nature of the explosion is unknown, but most scientists believe there is a sudden breakdown of magnetic fields above sunspots which releases the intense energy of the flare.

The flares eject matter in streams and shock waves that travel out through interplanetary space and cause communications blackouts, magnetic storms and auroras on arrival at earth. Some flares also emit cosmic rays, a potential hazard to astronauts who could be killed by the stream of protons thrown out.

Research during the past 20 years has shown that the massive clouds of rarified gas emitting powerful radio waves which are ejected during an explosion on the sun travel at two distinct speeds.

The faster ones, traveling at 50,000 miles a second, take only a few seconds to pass through the sun's atmosphere and are responsible, scientists believe, for the periodic buildup of particle activity in the Van Allen radiation belts around the earth.

The slower clouds of gas travel at 600 miles per second reaching earth a day or two after the explosion and causing spectacular auroras in the night sky, magnetic storms and disruption of long-distance communications.

In the space era there is need for understanding these flares and a reliable means of forecasting the disturbances. The radio heliograph, it is hoped, will allow scientists to warn of clouds of low-energy cosmic rays emitted by the sun at the time of certain flares. This would be of great value in space research.

Because the explosions emit radio waves but not light waves, the techniques so far used give only a very blurred picture of the initial gas cloud. The radio heliograph has been designed to remedy this situation and to provide a detailed picture of the radio flares accompanying the explosions near sunspots, which can be seen through optical telescopes.

The radio heliograph is a huge ring of aerials nearly two miles in diameter. There are 96 parabolic or dish-type aerials, each 45 feet across, and equally spaced on a circle six miles in circumference.

Operating on a frequency of 80 megacycles (wave length 3.5 meters), the aerials will be automatically driven to follow the sun for four hours each day. Signals received in these aerials will be amplified about 100 times, then conveyed along overhead transmission lines to a central observatory building. Here, the signals will be processed by a complex network of electronic circuits and computers and displayed on a television screen with a new picture once a second. At the same time the data will be recorded in digital form on magnetic tape.

Near the center of the radio heliograph the division of physics has set up another rare instrument—a 12-inch optical telescope that can produce a television type picture of the sun's surface every 15 seconds. This telescope has a very advanced type of filter, developed by the division, which cuts down the time needed to scan the sun's disk for the purpose of detecting and measuring the magnetic field to only a few seconds.

In photographing the fine structure of flares the new telescope is expected to distinguish details as small as 250 miles in diameter on the surface of the sun which is 93 million miles from earth. Its development was supported by the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Alongside this telescope is a smaller flare patrol telescope, already in operation, which is part of the world-wide network that watches for the occurrence of solar flares.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Inhaling Of Tiny Peanut Can Be Most Dangerous

VAN DELLEN

Food, plastic items, metal objects, and teeth are inhaled most often. The peanut is the most dangerous because it does not show on the X-ray and its oils irritate the bronchial lining. In addition, it is difficult to remove because the nut often breaks when gripped with a bronchoscopic forceps. The small pieces are difficult to find and those remaining may cause pneumonia, abscesses, or a chronic infection.

There is no doubt that a foreign body has been inhaled when there is choking, coughing, and the individual turns blue. This is an emergency and the old trick of patting the back has helped many but it can backfire. If the individual gasps when hit, the object may be sucked deeper into the lung. A more sensible method is to lie over the side of the bed or on lap of another person with the head down and try to cough.

INHALED FOREIGN bodies are tricky, especially when the initial bout of coughing subsides and the individual is convinced that the substance was eliminated. Symptoms of lung damage appear a few days later. The victim may begin to wheeze or spit up bood; chills and fever develop when pneumonia or an abscess sets in. The cause may escape detection unless the physician is told of the acute attack of choking.

Now and then the windpipe is blocked and the individual suffocates before anything can be done. A large piece of meat is found occasionally in the throat of a person who dies suddenly while eating.

IF THERE IS any question about the presence of an inhaled object that does not show up on the X-ray film, the physician recommends a specialist in bronchoscopy. This medico uses a flexible tube with an eyepiece on one end and a light on the other. Bronchoscopy is a safe procedure and it is better to find nothing than to leave a foreign body in the bronchial tree.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SPINAL CHANGES

B. C. writes: What causes degenerative changes in the spinal cord?

REPLY

The cause is not known although in some types the circulation to the spinal cord is faulty. Each degenerative area represents a patch that has lost its circulation through hemorrhage or clot in a blood vessel.

HYSTERIA SIMULATES DISEASE

Mrs. D. writes: Are hysteria and psychoneurosis the same?

REPLY

No. Hysteria is a form of psychoneurosis in which the victim converts an emotional problem into a condition simulating a real disease. Thus the hysteric may become blind, deaf, mute, or paralyzed even though the organs involved are normal.

SELF-HELP

A. B. A. writes: Is there any medicine a person can buy without a prescription for a spastic colon?

REPLY

It's been said that a person who does his own doctoring has a fool for a patient. But, between you and me, a bland diet and freedom from worry will help more than all the medicines on your druggist's shelf.

BIOPSY OF GLAND

W. U. writes: Why is a piece of gland removed from the armpit for testing?

REPLY

In many disorders diagnosis cannot be made unless a piece of one of the glands in the armpit, neck, or groin is removed for laboratory study.

False Arrest Case Settled Out Of Court

A Marin City resident's false arrest suit against the City of Sausalito and its police department has been settled out of court, it was reported yesterday.

Arthur Miller Jr. of 89 Coke Drive had filed suit in August, 1965, charging that Sausalito Patrolmen E. J. Coady and Michael Kielman wrongfully stopped his car in Sausalito June 10 at 2:30 a.m. and searched it without his consent.

Miller, a 34-year-old mortician, said he had got off work in Mill Valley and gone to a Sausalito restaruant for a bite to eat and was on his way home when stopped "for no good reason."

Miller's San Francisco attorney, Terry Thomas Ryan, told the Independent-Journal yesterday he had received a check for $250 in settlement of Miller's suit. Ryan said, "The suit was brought not for the money, but to end this type of harassment."

City Att. Leland H. Jordan said Anchor Insurance Co. of Los Angeles, the city's carrier, had settled the case rather than go to the expense of defending the city.

CBS Makes Bid For Book Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System, whose diversified holdings already include the New York Yankees baseball team, toy and movie firms and assorted musical instrument companies, has made a bid for a major publishing house.

CBS offered yesterday to acquire the century-old publishing house of Holt, Rinehart & Winston, Inc., in a deal that reportedly would involve more than $275 million in CBS stock.

That figure was based on yesterday's closing price of 71¼ for CBS common stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

TELEVISION REVIEW

An Absurd Comedy— The Rating Game

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One of the most absurd comedies going on in television is the dispute between the networks and pollsters over whether the so-called intelligentsia is watching video programs more or less these days.

The absurdity arises from the reliance on statistics—regardless of where they come from—to answer a question that is so wholly and obviously a matter of common sense. Long before the polls raised the question, it became so certain a fact that sophisticated viewers were bound to be fed up by the networks' prime time programming that it seems extraordinary that anyone is still arguing pros and cons of the matter.

If you want specifics, all right I will give you specifics and qualifications of my thesis. The first thing is that although the network movies are in prime time, I do not consider them television programs because they are obviously no such thing—but are from another medium and are merely stuck in a machine and rerun across the nation.

I do not doubt that sophisticated viewers watch movie reruns more than they watched the imbecile series they replaced. But what I am talking about mostly are prime time television programs made by and for television—and if anybody from any network tries to tell me that sophisticated viewers are watching these shows more than in the past, I am afraid I will have to give them the old hee-haw.

The networks are not really talking about the intelligentsia or the sophisticated audience. They—and some pollsters too—start breaking the subject down into categories like college-educated viewers and well-to-do viewers, which in some areas, of course, are categories that are mistakenly thought to represent people who are necessarily intelligent and sophisticated.

Well, of course, this is more hogwash. A college education is by no means a measuring stick of intelligence or sophistication—or even of an educated person. Nor is a larger-than-average income.

You can be quite positive through your simple commeon sense—and to blazes with the statistics—that if a grown person voluntarily watches video's prime time programs on a steady and heavy basis, and actually enjoys them, then he is hardly likely to be a member in good standing of the intelligentsia or the sophisticated audience. That is my foolproof survey system. And nobody else's statistics could possibly be as accurate.

G.E. Will Do Reactor Design

SUNNYVALE (UPI) — The General Electric Company prepared today to carry out research for engineering design work on a $750,000 self-fueling atomic reactor for civilian use.

Part of G.E.'s research called for drawing up plans for a 300,000 kilowatt pilot plant.

The $750,000 was pooled by 20 power companies, including Pacific Gas & Electric, Commonwealth Edison and the Duke Power Company, Charlotte, N.C. Names of the others were not dislcosed.

A self-fueling or "breeder" reactor has been operating in England for three years and an experimental breeder reactor operates in Detroit.

Baseball Boss Talks Of Expansion

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The baseball playing population is growing so fast that major league expansion may be only a few years away, says Commissioner William D. Eckert.

"More boys are playing ball than ever before," the commissioner told newsmen yesterday.

But new clubs will be added "only on a sound basis," Eckert said. He spoke after a spring meeting of the Baseball Executive Council.

"When there are enough players, along with sufficient public demand and enough park facilities, there will be an expansion," Eckert said.

Preliminary plans call for two additional clubs in each league.

A dozen cities want in the majors, he said. He did not name them.

Discussing expansion possibilities, the council decided to work increasingly with universities, high schools and amateur organizations to develop more players.

Another flow of players, it was said, comes from Latin America. The commissioner said this influx is increasing rapidly.

The council established two Cy Young Awards. The baseball writers organization will select the best pitcher in each league rather than one for the two as heretofore.

The council decided to warn major league clubs not to let soccer or other nonbaseball activities interfer with the playing conditions in their stadiums.

Eckert predicted a good 1967 season.

"We are hoping for a larger attendance than last year, which was a new high," he said. "Also competition should be just as hot."

Preseason ticket sales are showing new highs, the commissioner reported. He mentioned Baltimore, St. Louis, Atlanta, the Angeles and Detroit as among clubs "doing well" in advance ticket sales.

The council asked the baseball scheduling committee to study a request to change the World Series schedule so series would start on Saturdays rather than on Wednesdays.

Discussion of players' requests for minimum salary increases from $7,000 to $12,000 was deferred. Club owners are studying the requests.

Drake has an overall record of 18 wins and 5 losses compared to Newark's 21-2 mark.

Peggy Fleming All But Wraps Up Skating Title

JIM MURRAY

No Glory For Pitcher With The Wrong Color

How would you like to be a big league talent scout and come upon this in an Iowa sand lot? Six feet four inches tall, 215 pounds, long, loose arms, easy rhythm, 19 years old, a fast ball you can't even hear distinctly, and a curve ball that comes through like a car cornering at Indianapolis? A young man of good habits who removes his hat in the presence of ladies, eats with a fork, and says "Yes, sir" to his elders?

What would you give him? $100,000? $200,000? A new car every six months and a house and 100 acres of bottom land for his parents?

BUT THIS WAS 1927 in the sovereign city of Des Moines, Iowa, and do you know what Chester A. Brewer got? Zip. Zero. Nada. The scouts stepped over him to get a .250 banjo hitter who drank, smoked, ran around with girls, and was 40-1 never even to see a big league game.

As far as the big leagues were concerned at that time, Chet Brewer might just as well have been a girl. Because, you see, his complexion was a light tawny brown—and he would have wrecked the color scheme of the big leagues.

CHET BENT his curve ball (which may have been one of history's best) in places like Crookston, Minn., Tampico, Winnipeg, Homestead, Pa., and some Caribbean banana docks, after that. It was an era of history true sportsmen are ashamed of, and true bigots yearn for.

One of the greatest pitchers of his era went through life in the back of the bus, or eating hocks in fly-blown diners in Colored Town. For $150-a-month and a free all-night bus ride to the next town, he served up that curve ball to Caribbean cane-choppers, Mexican truck drivers, and kids who got a day off from the cotton fields to try their luck at it.

THERE WAS ANOTHER youngster starting out at about that same time—Leroy Paige, called "Satchel" because his shoes could have been used as troop transports. Chet and Leroy hooked up several times, most notably in a game that went on in South Dakota once until dark, and nobody could hit a ball as far as the shortsop.

A PITCHER who should have been in Yankee Stadium was in a canebrake in the Philippines, a sand bar in Santo Domingo. The first night baseball game in history was NOT Crosley Field in Cincinnati in 1935 but in Enid, Okla., several years sooner, when Chet pitched by the light of a ring of automobiles, and a few high-watt bulbs strong up on a pole. In that light, none of the batters is real sure he was using a ball.

THE MAGNITUDE of the injustice is comprehended when you know that Chet beat Dizzy Dean, of the Hall-of-Fame Deans, in a barnstorming tour once, and that he shut out the 1932 Athletics, one of the all-time great teams, 4-0. Jimmy Foxx managed a pop foul in four trips to the plate.

Embittered? Realy to pull society down by its foundations? Throwing curves with Molotov cocktails these days?

NOW 60, CHET BREWER shakes his head.

"I don't believe in hate," he says.

"I do believe in righting wrongs. You make people more ashamed by good examples than you do by copying the tactics of the worst of them. Hate puts both of you in a grave. Working with kids at clinics, I do more good in five minutes than the hate groups will do in five years.

"WHEN I WAS IN MEXICO once, and the hotel had no room for me, I knew that prejudice was all over the world, and I was disgusted and on my way back to the train station when one of the town's top citizens, a man who is still my friend, came up and offered me his home along with some other Negro players. When he went on long trips in the export business, he left us there to protect his home and his wife and daughter. I knew right then that this good man trusted us and that the good people out-weigh the bad in the world—and it's true in all races. And the good people have to come together and say to the bad, 'Here, you, stop that right now, and act like you've been taught to act!'"

Chet, now a machine parts inspector at North American Aviation, is also a scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates. He has reams of pictures from his proteges, including one from a young Mexican-American player in the minor leagues signed, "Your adopted son." He only hopes to find a Chet Brewer out on the sand lots some place in his travels. I hope he finds lots of them.

ALL-STAR FOOTBALL

Drake, Tamalpais Dominate South

Drake and Tamalpais dominated selections on The South-All-Stars for the 1967 North-South game Aug. 24 at College of Marin Stadium pitting the top senior high school football players in Marin County last year.

The Indians and Marin athletic league co-champion Pirates landed seven players each on the team, with Redwood grabbing six spots and Marin Catholic, which will not compete in MCAL football next season, getting five spots.

The North squad was named earlier this week.

Defensive halfback Karl Stein, end Chet Carlisle, tackles Jerry Sprout, and Carl Gonser, center Bill Hickerson, and backs Tom Mauer and Tom McNaboe were top Drake selections for the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club-sponsored game.

Tamalpais had quarterback Steve Woodward, backs Scott Laurie, Larry Adams and Reggie Walker, guard Phil Simpson, end Mike Biber and tackle Barry Brink.

Redwood choices were fullback Stan Tobiason, guards Rusty Poole, Bud Lyons and Bill Poole, tackle Mark Herrero and end Dave Otteson.

Marin Catholic picks were end Pat Carney, halfback Mike Giacomini, fullback John Komo, center Rich Woodall and guard George Foster.

(Complete South roster appears on page 39.)

Clay Plans To Train An Extra Week

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says he plans to train an extra week in Houston before going to New York where he will defend his title March 22 against Zora Folley.

Earlier he had planned to arrive in New York about two weeks before the bout.

"I am going to stay an extra week because I like it down here," Clay said.

"I like it better and better. I like the weather, the layout of the city. It's a peaceful, quiet, clean place."

Increases Her Wide Margin

VIENNA (AP) — Peggy Flemming of Colorado Springs assumed an almost unbeatable lead in the compulsory figures and moved within reach today of her second straight World Women's Figure Skating Championship.

She is expected to clinch the title in the free skating windup Saturday. Compulsory figures count 60 per cent in the scoring, free skating 40 per cent.

The 18-year-old American college co-ed completed her six school figures — in which contestants trace involved figure eights — with a total score of 1,223.4 points.

She had an imposing 69.2 lead over Canada's Valerie Jones, in second place. Third was the European champion Gabrielle Seyfert of East Germany with 1,143.4 points. Fourth was Sally Ann Stapleford of Britain with 1,118.8.

In the men's compulsory competition, Austria's Wolfgang Schwarz held his slim lead over his fellow countryman and the defending champion, Emmerich Danzer.

Canada's Donald Knight was a close third after the last two of six compulsory figures, followed by Scotty Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., and Gary Visconti of Detroit.

Schwarz, a 19-year-old Viennese student and runner-up to Danzer in two European and one world championship, led the champion by 15.8 points. But Danzer, 23, was expected to surge ahead in the free skating tomorrow and win a new crown.

Perry Has New 'Secret Pitch'

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—Gaylord Perry doesn't care if people think his killer pitch is an illegal spitball. "I hope they keep on believing it. It makes my job that much easier."

"I worked on that slider for almost a year before I used it in a game," said the San Francisco Giants hurler, "and I'm counting on it again this season."

Perry said he may even improve on his 1966 record of 21 wins against eight losses.

"I'm working on something new this spring and I may have another surprise for everybody," he said.

Meanwhile, manager Herman Franks announced the first higher echelon change at the spring training camp yesterday. It moves third base coach Charlie Fox over to first base and replaces him at third with newly acquired Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, the Philadelphia Phillies last-turn traffic cop in 1966.

Completing the shuffle, Franks said he is taking Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto off first and bringing him onto the bench in an advisor capacity, and sending Larry Jensen back to the bullpen.

"I just want to try Peanuts out at third," said Franks. "He is a pretty sharp little guy. And Cookie should be very valuable to have at my side, for he's managed in the big leagues and knows the answers to some questions that haven't been asked yet."

Warriors Dumped By Celts; Face Rough 76ers Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors jump from the frying pan into the fire tonight when they wind up their road trip with a contest against the Tough Philadelphia 76ers.

The 76ers lead the NBA's Eastern Division with an amazing 58-11 record.

The Warriors, leaders of the Western Division, went up against the Eastern Division's second-place club — Boston — last night. They should have stayed home. The Celtics handed them a 137-125 whipping.

The night before San Francisco opened its three-game road trip by losing to the New York Knicks. The Warriors return to the West Coast Saturday night to meet the Knicks at Fresno. John Havlicek led the Celts to victory with a 14-point scoring spree in the third quarter. He was the game's high scorer with 36.

Boston, leading by nine points at the half after trailing by as many as seven early in the game, withstood a Warrior charge midway through the third period which brought San Francisco within two points of the Celtics 80-78.

Havlicek, hitting for three buckets in a row, put the game out of San Francisco's reach. The Celts extended their lead to 14 points with just under a minute to ply, limiting Rick Barry to only one point in the final quarter.

Barry still wound up high man for San Francisco with 33. Substitute center Clyde Lee, filling in for the injured Nate Thurmond, contributed 23 points.

The contest wrapped up San Francisco's season series with Boston. The Celtics came out on top winning six of the nine

Drake J.V. Quint Was The Champ

Drake High School's junior varsity cagers, paced by a trio of stars, paved their way to the mythical Marin County Athletic League jayvee basketball title this year, coming out on top by one game.

They pushed past Marin Catholic by piling up a 10-2 league mark to the Wildcats' 9-3 record and an 8-4 mark by Tamalpais. They were 14-4 overall.

"We were the shortest team in the league," Drake coach Pete Hayward said. "They really did a job."

Leading the way to the title were sophomore Fred Westcott, junior Mike Gaffney, an Sophomore Clark Jamison. Westcott was the top scorer with 226 points for the season followed by Mike Gaffney with 191 and Jamison with 144.

Gaffney and Westcott, who will be going to the tournament of champions with the varsity next week, combined for a big share of the Pirate rebounds with Gaffney getting 247 and Westcott 231.

Jamison had 75 assists for the season and 54 recoveries.

Elmer Valo appeared in 81 games as a pinch hitter while with the New York Yankees and Washington Senators in 1960.

IT'S A DOG'S LIFE

Belinsky's In Love Again

By MILTON RICHMAN

COCOA, Fla. (UPI) —Bo Belinsky, that great lover, has gone and fallen again.

And unlike all his other romances, this is a match that was made in heaven. Or on the front doorstep of the Houston Astros' clubhouse to be exact.

Bo has lost his heart to a shaggy looking, black and white sheep terrier that hung around for days searching for scraps of food.

Belinsky named the dog "Alfie," and now everywhere the Astros' southpaw goes, the animal happily trails after him.

"He doesn't lead a dog's life anymore," said Bo, stroking Alfie's head affectionately as the husky sheep terrier lapped up some milk especially set up in Belinsky's locker.

TICKED OFF

"He has it better than a lotta people I know. Maybe even better than me. Roast beef and steak every night. The works.

"You oughtta seen him when he first got here though. Dirty, scroungy and everything. I took him down to the vet. The vet got all the ticks off him and gave him a bath. Groomed him real nice. Even cut his nails."

Bo paid for that. He'd never tell you so himself. The other Houston players do. They've also adopted Alfie, more or less.

"I got him all cleaned up, but it didn't do any good," Belinsky laughed. "Five minutes later he was all dirty again. He likes to roll in the mud. I don't know how long I'll be able to keep him. It's up to the club officials. A lot of 'em like him, too."

The one thing about Alfie which disturbs Bo is that the dog doesn't seem to be in A-1 spring training condition.

"He keeled over right here in front of my locker the other day after running five laps with us pitchers," frowned the 30-year-old lefty, getting his third major league shot with the Astros.

TIRED TERRIER

"I don't know what's the matter with him. Maybe he's been staying up and running around too much at night. Look at him: he's got a big wheelbase and burning feet."

Jim Ewell, the club trainer, nodded agreement.

"I gave Alfie something for athlete's foot," he said. "He's runnig better now, don't you think Bo?"

Belinsky concurred somewhat reluctantly.

And what about his own future?

"I like this club," he said. "This is the nicest I've ever been treated. I'll do anything they want me to. They want me to relieve, I'll relieve. They want me to start, I'll do that.

"I'm 30 and more settled now . . . I've seen a whole lot . . . I'm sorta jaded . . . Everybody makes mistakes. I made a few but not as many as they said. And never real big ones. I mean where I was in serious trouble."

A guy like Bo, who takes a mangy old mutt in like he did, never will be in any serious trouble.

Ten New Members For Football Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl (Greasy) Neale, one of the game's great innovators in his career as college and professional coach, and nine former players have been named to the National Football Hall of Fame for 1967.

Chester J. LaRoche, president of the National Football Foundation, in making the announcement today, said the electees would be inducted at the 10th annual Awards Banquet Dec. 5.

The players honored include six linemen and three backs. They are: Slade Cutter, Navy tackle; Nathan Dougherty, Tennessee guard; Joel Hunt, Texas A&M back; Wear Schoonover, Arkansas end; Paul Schwegler, Washington tackle; Herb Stein, Pittsburgh center; Francis (Whitey) Wistert, Michigan tackle; Cecil Isbell, Purdue back, and Abe Mickal, Louisiana State back.

LaRoche said the Hall of Famers were chosen not only for football performance but for leadership and citizenship.

Neale, saluted as a college coach whose love for the game was second to none, beat out a pair of later day strategists in the balloting — Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and Charles (Bud) Wilkinson of Oklahoma.

Neale, an all-around player at West Virginia Wesleyan, spent 25 years as a college coach, serving at Washington & Jefferson, Wesleyan, Marietta, Virginia, West Virginia and Yale. He later went to the National Football League where he guided the Philadelphia Eagles to the championship.

While at Washington & Jefferson, his team battled heavily favored California to a scoreless tie in the 1922 Rose Bowl game.

He is credited with instituting the man-to-man defense in 1916, the triple pass in 1917, the fake reverse in 1922 and the pitch-out series later.

Mantle Gets Early Start As Yankee First Baseman

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Great Experiment is off to an early start at the New York Yankees' spring training camp. . .and Mickey Mantle already is one up on Dr. Strangeglove.

Mantle, determined to make the grade as a first baseman after 15 seasons in the Yankee outfield, jumped the gun yesterday at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and scooped up about 30 ground balls with the big mitt.

He came through with a perfect fielding average, then scored with a quick quip when asked what type of first baseman's glove he was using.

"It's a Dick Stuart model," replied the 35-year-old slugger without cracking a smile. The reference was to the journeyman first baseman, now with Los Angeles, whose defensive shortcomings earned him the nickname Dr. Strangeglove.

"GOT TO LEARN"

Mantle, who wasn't expected to begin working out at first base for several days, persuaded coach Frank Crosetti to tap grounders his way. "I've got to learn sometime," Mantle said.

Afterward, he admitted being "a little uncomfortable out there, at first. I kept feeling that everybody in the stands was waiting for me to miss one.

"I want to make it. If I can do it, there'll be all strong arms in the outfield and it could give me a year or two more as a player than I'd have had as an outfielder. I've got eight days and the 30 exhibition games to find out if I can do it."

FROM SCRATCH

The Yankees, starting from scratch after last year's cellar finish in the American League, hope Mantle, whose succession of injuries have curtailed his maneuverability and weakened his throwing arm, can master the new position and free slick-fielding Joe Pepitone for center field service.

While Mantle broke in his new glove at the Yankees' camp, Stuart sat out Dodger drills at Vero Beach, Fla., with an ankle injury. Stuart's right ankle, hit by a pitch during batting practice Monday, hemorrhaged yesterday and the nine-year veteran is expected to be sidelined a few more days.

Pete Richert, Washington's winningest pitcher last year, was another early casualty. The hard-throwing left-hander came up with knotted muscles in his pitching shoulder. He'll undergo heat treatments and special exercises to correct the condition.

Pitcher Milt Pappas ended his week-long holdout and signed with Cincinnati for a reported $32,000. . .about the same he received last season while posting a disappointing 12-11 won-lost record with the Reds. The right-hander was seeking a $5,000 raise.

Meanwhile, Frank Robinson, whose trade to Baltimore for Pappas last winter backfired on the Reds, trotted through his first workout with the world champions and expressed satisfaction with his progress in recuperating from a knee operation.

SATISFIED

"If this was opening day, I wouldn't be satisfied," said the American League's MVP and Triple Crown winner. "We still have six weeks before opening day, however, and today I'm satisfied," Robinson underwent surgery last November to remove cartilage from his right knee.

The Boston Red Sox squelched rumors that they were interested in trading former AL batting king Carl Yastrzemski while the San Francisco Giants said they weren't trying to deal for Cleveland's Rocky Colavito, who is holding out against a 25 per cent pay cut.

"You couldn't get a guy like that out of the American League right now," said Giants President Horace Stoneham. "There are too many clubs over there that would grab Colavito if Cleveland tried to get waivers on him."

Palmer, Nicklaus Lead Field In Doral Open

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Golf's all-time leading money winner, Arnold Palmer, and third-place money winner, Jack Nicklaus, head the field of 144 pros who tee off today in the opening round of the $100,000 Doral Open.

Palmer, fresh from a victory in the Tucson Open where he fired a 15-under par 273 for his second triumph on the 1967 PGA tour, has added $32,000 to his lifetime earnings of $786,450. His earlier 1967 victory was in the Los Angeles Open.

Nicklaus' most recent victory was in the Bing Crosby Tourney which boosted his lifetime earnings to $527,364.

A victory in the Doral, which he has never won, would push Palmer $20,000 closer to becoming golf's first million-dollar winner.

Tournament record over the 7,002-yard par 71 Doral layout is the 274 shot by Doug Sanders, who will be seeking his second victory in the Doral as will be defending champion Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., and Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., who won in 1963.

Rodgers' one-stroke victory at 278 over Jay Dolan in the 1966 Doral, coupled with a victory in the Buick Open, accounted for his biggest professional season since turning pro in 1960.

Tournament Director Frank Strafaci has predicted that a 277 will be required to win this sixth annual Doral — providing there is no wind.

"With a good wind I think a 280 can win it all," Strafaci said.

The Doral Open is the seventh of 42 events on the 1967 PGA schedule, and according to Strafaci is "the biggest golfing event of the year from the standpoint of nationwide listening, viewing and reading audience."

The Race Was 8½ Miles, Not 10

Marin Athletic Club's Daren Walton did clock 45:02 in the second annual Trinidad Beach Run at Arcata last Saturday, but it was erroneously reported in the Independent-Journal that the distance was 10 miles. It was in fact eight and a half miles.

Walton, a junior at Novato High, placed third while Marin A.C. won the team title with 40 points, outdoing Humboldt State (49) in spite of Far Western Conference champion Gary Tuttle's winning time of 43:44, which shattered the 46:15 record he set last year.

Redwood's Frosh '5' Went 16-2

A double team of Redwood freshmen compiled a phenominal 16-2 season record and a 12-0 league mark to win the 1967 Marin County Athletic League freshman basketball crown.

Coach Stan Buchanan used regular starters of captain Jerry Piro, Kent Scove, John Boro, Tom Wickert and Ross Gondak and also a press team of mighty mites composed of Bob Barkovich, Pete Cooney, Bob Piper and Charles Flynn.

Piro, of whom varsity coach Dick Hart expects great things, scored more than 15 point a game for the frosh giants. He and Scove were their leading scorers.

The freshman Giants lost only to El Camino and Diablo Valley in non-conference games.

The San Marin Pisceans, Novato's Amateur Athletic Union synchronized girls swimming team, will hold tryouts at 8 p.m. Saturday at the San Marin Recreation Club in Novato.

Girls from eight to 17 years of age are eligible.

To become a member, a girl must be able to swim at least one length of the pool in the crawl, backstroke, breastroke and sidestroke.

The members of the team travel all over the Bay Area doing shows and participating in meets. Last year the team presented an aquacade production; had a team beach party and climaxed it with an awards banquet.

Defense Is Name Of Game

Independent-Journal Sports

Thurs., March 2, 1967 39

By GARY TISCHLER

This was the season that Drake, with an offense as explosive as a cap pistol, showed that defense is still the name of the game in the Marin County Atheltic League basketball race.

It was also a season of twofold horror and a stretch of perfection for Tamalpais.

It was a perfectly dismal season for Novato, which failed to win a league game and went 2-22 for the season.

Marin Catholic's surprising pre-season Wildcats showed what they were in league play —young.

San Rafael and Terra Linda, two teams of which little was expected, showed plenty, throwing red-hot roadblocks against title contenders Redwood and Tamalpais.

ADVANTAGE

It was a season where the home-court advantage became pronounced for everyone but Novato and Marin Catholic.

It was a season that started too soon for the Redwood Giants who were the second-best team in the county during much of the second half of play by making a stretch drive that was cut short by a stunning upset.

Coach Carl Brown's Pirates made do with just enough offense and more than enough defense as they swept to their second straight title in what turned out to be steamroller fashion. Only a 49-47 loss at Tamalpais marred an otherwise perfect league record.

They won it officially in their next-to-last game on a 48-47 hair-raiser at Marin Catholic but the clincher was a 46-45 pressure game over Tamalpais four days earlier.

For Coach Bernie Schneider's Indians, it was a schizophrenic season. They never really got cured.

Favored almost unanimously to take the title before the season ever started, the Indians were strictly dogpatch, patch-up, in pre-season play, winning only one game. They turned supermen once league play got under way, winning the first half on a clean slate with six impressive wins and seemed poised for the title.

The collapse came quickly, starting with a loss to San Rafael, followed by another to Redwood, the heart-breaker to Drake and climaxed by a dismal 19-point shellacking at Terra Linda.

Novato, at least, was consistent. The Hornets never won and came close only once in a three-point loss to Terra Linda. Their only consolation for the season was a trip to the Chico Tournament where they won their only two games.

Terra Linda knocked off Tamalpais and San Rafael for big upsets by 19 and 35 points while the Bulldogs spilled Tamalpais and Redwood for their upsets as well as taking a 20-point verdict over the Trojans.

HOME RECORDS

But both teams were prone to be more sucecssful at home than away from it, a trend that marked itself all around the league. The Bulldogs, 7-5 in league play, were 5-1 at home, while the Trojans won four of their six games at Terra Linda. Tamalpais was 5-1 at home, Redwood was 4-2, and Drake 6-0.

The Giants, after suffering three losses in the first half of play, came back to reel off four straight first half wins and were within a shot at title before suffering a deflating loss to Marin Catholic at Redwood.

McDaniel Expects To Get Into A Lot Of Games This Year Too

HANLEY

CASA GRANDE, Ariz.—Lindy McDaniel believes the 1967 National League baseball campaign is going to be "a battle all the way." With the Giants winding up in the No. 1 position?

"I think, said the willowy 6-3, 190-pound bullpen ace, "we're going to have to work very hard." But the pennant?

"It's going to be a battle all the way," repeated the veteran of 12 major leagur campaigns, refusing to make any rash predictions.

"WE DIDN'T PLAY well after the All-Star break last year," said McDaniel. "We beat ourselves in several games. It is going to take some very hard work this spring to correct that."

McDaniel didn't list any specific giveaways during the second half of the season last year. He didn't have to go into specifics. The record spoke for itself.

AT THE ALL-STAR BREAK in 1966 the Giants led the league by one game with a 54-33 mark, 21 over .500. Durnig the second half the Giants literally played under .500 ball until the final nine days when they won eight of their last nine games. That stretch streak gave them a final 39-35 mark, four over .500, for the second half of the campaign. It left them 1½ games short of the pennant which the Dodgers tucked away.

"THE DODGERS," said McDaniel. "naturally aren't going to be as tough this year without Sandy Koufax. But they will have good pitching even without Koufax and they always are a fine defensive club.

"The Pirates will be real tough. So will the Braves if they get any pitching. It's difficult to judge Philadelphia. St. Louis could go either way this year. The Cardinals were surprising last year."

McDaniel also had a good word for Cincinnati. And he didn't downgrade the Cubs, recalling that his former Chicago teammates whipped the Giants three out of four in a crucial Candlestick Park series last September.

LAST SEASON WAS McDaniel's first with the Giants. Prior to 1966 he spent all of his major league career with the Cardinals and Cubs.

He was the workhorse of the Giant bullpen last year, appearing in 64 games. He wound up with a 10-5 record and five saves. His 64 appearances topped the previous San Francisco relief mark of 63 by Stu Miller in 1961. The all-time Giant relief record is 71 by Hoyt Wilhelm in 1952.

McDANIEL DIDN'T mind the work load he carried last year. "I asked for work and I got it," he said. And is he asking for a similar work load this year? "All I'm capable of carrying," said Lindy, an honest workman who believes in carrying his share of the load—and a little bit more for good measure.

Cal Aggies Win Far West Title

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI)—The Cal Aggies today claimed their first Far Western Conference basketball title in 27 years.

They sewed up the league last night bu subduing the pesky Chico State Wildcats 64-52 here.

It was no piece of cake for the Aggies. During one eight-minute stretch they failed to net a field goal. And for 26 minutes the Wildcats had the lead.

However, with John Frost leading the way the Aggies broke loose and went ahead 36-35. It was all over for the Chicoans from there on out. At one point the Aggies had a 17-point lead.

Frost led all scorers with 20 while center Alan Budde hit 18.

The Aggies are now 12-2 while Chico is 7-7.

Charlotte Warcup Bowls 277 Game

Charlotte Warcup of San Rafael, one of the top woman bowlers in Marin County, showed this week it pays not to give up when you get off to a slow start in league bowling.

Bowling in the Ladies 605 Classic League, Char started off with a 161 then fell to a 138. Her last game was 277, one of the best single game scores of the year. She had nine straight strikes in that final game before leaving the three-pin in the 10th frame. She picked it up and closed out with her 277, giving her a 576 series. That series score was second to Jackie Bridges' 225-585 in the Daffodils League, however.

Carl Wilson led the men's scores with a 648 series in the San Quentin Mixed Fours. Joe Kenney had high game, a 257 en route to a 632 set in the Elks League. Wilson's series was topped by a 242 line.

The FISHIN' FOOL

I-J Fish and Game Writer

Don't Give Up Yet, There Are Still Areas Open For Steelhead Angling

STEVENS

So you didn't get yourself a single steelhead during the season that closed on Feb. 28? So what? Hundreds of others have the same lament, but don't put away your gear and wait until next November when the season on tide water streams will again open. Lots of areas where you can still give a try. For instance—Jim Roads of the Klamath River Guide Service writes:

HAPPY CAMP AREA: Klamath at seasonal level and has dropped another foot this past week, improving water conditions. If these water conditions continue, the fishing which has been slow the past week should improve. Fresh roe and nightcrawlers are still the best bet with heavier fish (one of 8 pounds was taken on a Spin Glo).

An interesting item of news released by the Department of Fish and Game follows: "Parts of four north coast streams which normally close to fishing on the last day of February will remain open right through the Friday preceding May 30. The four are the Van Duzen, Middle Fork Eel, and Mad rivers and Redwood Creek. Three of them will have all year fishing, as they are open during the regular trout season, too. The Middle Fork Eel will be closed from Sept. 16 through Oct. 31, but will be open the rest of the year."

THE NEWS IS FAIR to good regarding salmon trolling outside the Golden Gate. The boats have been working the Duxbury Reef area for the last several days. I note that Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's in Oakland reports fair results on Monday. The boat Chinook came in with 14 salmon to 15 pounds, the Sea Horse unloaded 15 to 14 pound sand the Lorayne had 10 to 12 pounds. Not too hot, but a lot better than earlier reports from the same boats.

STRIPER STRIVING has been fair to good, also. The past weekend the upper San Pablo yielded some good sport with bass, sturgeon and flounders. (One angler, Wally Aman of Santa Venetia, displayed a flounder he had caught that weighed 5 pounds.)

Mrs. Edding of Buck's Landing reported 25 stripers over 20 pounds on Saturday, and 10 sturgeon to 48 pounds, plus oodles of flounders caught by those who fished for them (small hooks, small baits); on Sunday, 21 boat left the landing and returned with 21 nice bass, nine sturgeon and a mess of flounders.

PROSPECTS LOOK fairly rosy for back country angling. Herb Kin, of the Outrigger — formerly Patrick's Resort, reported plenty of fine fat cat-fish taken by those in the know, and some came in from every skiff out. Limits mainly and the rest near-limits. Water is clearing nicely, and baby and teenage stripers are in evidence.

Jim Purcell of the Castro Valley Sportsmen's Center reported Chabot Lake still badly colored and fishing has been spotty.

I JUST LOOKED briefly at a booklet put out by the NRA people. Its title is "The Truth About Guns." That brief glance convinced me the booklet contains a remarkable fund of information about guns, about the relation of guns to crime wity questions and answers. I suggest that every president of a sportsmen's club (and all interested in getting the real dope on the gun controversy) send a quarter to Office of Public Affairs, NRA, 1600 Rhode Island Ave. ,N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Ask for the booklet "The Truth About Guns."

Today is Thursday, March 2, the 61st day of 1967 with 304 to follow.

The moon is between its full stage and last quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, and Jupiter.

American frontiersman Sam Houston was born on this day in 1793.

On this day in history:

In 1836, a group of 55 Texans issued a proclamation declaring the territory's independence from Mexico.

In 1877, Rutherford Hayes was named President by Congress in settlement of a dispute over the election of 1876. Hayes was declared the winner over Democrat Samuel Tilden.

In 1927, Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees became the highest paid baseball player up to that time when he signed a $70,000 contract.

In 1934, the battle of Bismarck Bay began and American airmen eventually destroyed a Japanese convoy of 21 ships.

A thought for the day—American educator Horace Mann once said: "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

4 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead — ♣ K

"West took the top clubs and led a low club to make me ruff. I took the top diamonds and led a third diamond. West followed suit, and East took a card out of his hand before I had played from dummy.

"I asked East if he promised to play his card (which I couldn't see) no matter what I played from dummy.

"He said something about saving time and put the card back in his hand.

EAST'S STRATEGY

"All of this made me feel sure that East was about to follow suit with a diamond, so I ruffed with dummy's low trump.

"East over-ruffed with the ten of spades and returned a trump, so that I eventually had to lose another diamond.

"I told East he should be ashamed of himself, but he just laughed and said that the ten of spades had been the card he had taken out of his hand.

"Should an opponent act that way to deceive declarer?"

OUT OF LINE

East was out of line when he took a card out of his hand before it was his turn to play.

Nevertheless South should keep quiet about this hand instead of making a fuss.

His contract was unbeatable if he played the hand properly.

South should ruff the third diamond with dummy's ace of trumps. He next cashes the ace of hearts and ruffs a heart with the king of trumps.

Now South can surely ruff his last diamond with the six of spades.

East can over-ruff with the ten of spades, but he cannot defeat the contract — no matter what he meant by taking a card out of his hand.

Not Fleeing, Just Running

BOSTON (AP) — "Grab that man," shouted a woman who had just witnessed a finance company holdup. Police officers collared the "suspect" as he ran down the street.

The fellow won back his release promptly, however, after convincing the officers that he was an amateur runner practicing for next spring's Boston Marathon.

Forest Knolls' Storm Center Displays Unique Instrument

Interesting musical instrument on display at the Storm Center in Forest Knolls is the "mbira" or African thumb piano. It is made and sometimes played there by Jack Munyi, a native of Kenya and now a student in Marin.

The idea is to pluck the tines on top with your fingers while you beat out a staccato on the bottom with your thumbs. A nice trick if you can do it — and it should make a good novely act on television or with folk-rock bands.

The Storm Center, located on Juarez Avenue across from Don's Market, started with Bob and Marge Storm more or less as a hobby and has becoem their livlihood. He is a designer and maker of hand-wrought jewelry and she designs and makes one-of-a-kind creations in women's apparel. They also have a gallery for other handcraft items and art — presently showing several paintings and the pottery work of Betty Wall.

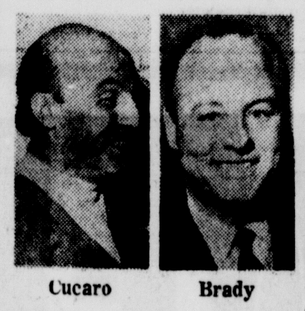
Look for a new wind in the Storm Center to blow up some additional activities — about spring.

AT MARIN PIANO AND ORGAN CO., San Rafael, owner Alfred Gehl has announced that Baldwin Organ Co. will put on a demonstration in mid-April of an electrically modified harpsichord now being used by folk-rock bands in the east. The sound is said to resemble an electric guitar, but with a wider chord scope and greater variations.

A NEW PETIT GALLERY, in the American Savings and Loan Association in the Northgate Shopping Center, has been opened to display art and photography by Marin County artists.

First exhibit is that of the color photographs of Independent-Journal staff photographer Bob Hax. Most of the scenes are in Marin County, with a few of British Columbia — about a dozen in all. They will remain on display until March 23.

Branch manager Ken Boosey said the gallery will be open to the public between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and until 6 p.m. Fridays.



Cucaro Brady

SPEAKING OF ART, some authorities think of it as a practical investment. Prentice-Hall published a report, "Investing in Art," and the fantastic increase in value of Picasso paintings between 1960 and 1965 has been held up as an example of what can happen when you pick the right name — the same as you might choose the right security. During the five-year period from 1960 to 1965 Picasso's paintings jumped 268 per cent, with the average painting selling last year for $75,000.

Cory Gallery in San Francisco thinks it has found another "growth stock" in the works of Sausalito artist Pat Cucaro. It has been collecting them like mad. During the 1960-65 period some of Cucaro's paintings jumped from $250 to $1,000 and the average now seems to be closer to $2,000. Pretty good for an over-the-counter speculation.

PHILIP R. BRADY of Novato, cargo sales account executive in the Bay Area for Trans World Airlines for the past two years, has been appointed manager of cargo sales for the Far East. Based in Hong Kong, he will be responsible for air freight, marketing and services in Japan, Thailand, the Philippines, Australia, Taiwan and the British crown colony. Before joining TWA he was in cargo sales with Japan Air Lines and also worked with Airborne Freight Corp.

HOMESTEAD SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, Sausalito, which opened two new branches in San Francisco during 1966, has reported assets 10.4 per cent above those of a year ago and reserves up 27.5 per cent.

SAN RAFAEL PUBLICIST Prince Hall has been appointed consultant to the Marin County Restaurant and Tavern Owners Association and the Marin County Hotel and Motel Owners Association by Ben Farlatti, who heads both associations as president.

NEW IMPORT WAGON

Datsun's new sport wagon features a 96-horsepower engine, disc brakes in front and a four-speed floor shift as standard equipment. A three-speed automatic transmission is a new option. Datsun passenger cars and trucks are available in Marin at Annex Motors, San Rafael.

United Air Lines Asks Fare Cuts

SAN FRANCISCO—United Air Lines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to approve fare reductions on all twin-engine Convair flights operating between San Francisco and various points in California and Oregon.

Beginning April 30 United said it plans to lower first class Convair fares to the same rate now charged for four-engine DC-6 tourist planes.

If approved, reductions would apply on United's Convair flights from the Bay Area to Medford, Eugene and Salem in Oregon; Sacramento, Santa Barbara and Monterey; and to all cities served by the airline in the San Joaquin Valley—Stockton, Modesto, Merced, Fresno, Visalia and Bakersfield.

UAL's '66 Net Is Second Best

CHICAGO — Earnings of United Air Lines for 1966 rank next to the best year in the company's history despite last summer's 43-day machinists' strike, G. E. Keck, president, has announced.

Net earnings totaled $38,308,000 as against $45,767,000 in 1965. In the strike months of July and August the company's net loss was $8,370,000 as compared with a net profit of $15,771,000 in the corresponding months of 1965.

"Had last summer's operations been normal, United's earnings would have substantially surpassed the record of 1965," Keck said.

Nearly two million tourists visit the White House each year. In the first years of the Lyndon B. Johnson Administration, tourists numbered well over four million—more than the entire population of the United States when George Washington took office.

Stocks Continuing To Make Rebounds

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to rise in active trading late this afternoon.

Volume for the first four hours was 8.13 million shares compared with 8.41 million yesterday.

The Dow Jones industrial average held a gain of about 4 points as the list advanced on a broad front with gainers outnumbering losers at a ratio of better than 7 to 4.

AVCO was the most active stock again but sank a point on profit taking followings its 3½-point rise of yesterday.

Blue chips and the lower-priced speculative issues joined hands in the rise which was based in part on the freeing of extra reserves by the Federal Reserve Board and also on the technical underpinnings of the market.

Active gainers included Brunswick, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Studebaker, American Telephone, Benguet and Outboard Marine.

Western Air Lines and Commercial Solvents spurted more than 2 each in active dealings. Eastern Air Lines was heavily traded and up nearly 4.

IBM digested an early loss than spurted 5 points. Polaroid remained 2 points lower. Xerox rose more than 2 and Schenley more than 3.

General Electric, Control Data and Boeing rose a point or more.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher.

Lettuce Market In Deep Crisis

EL CENTRO — Losses are nearing the $15 million mark in what is proving the worst marketing year in the history of desert lettuce, according to Western Growers Association, Los Angeles, the industry's trade association.

Producers in California's Imperial Valley and Blythe districts and in Arizona's Yuma Valley report they will recover only a small fraction of costs.

FLYING FASHIONS—American Airlines transcontinental passengers soon will be asked to ballot on their rating of stewardess garb such as this washable white stretch minidress with fishnet stockings and white shoes. Apaprently the airline thinks the Mod look may last. (UPI Telephoto)

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Army Nurse Must Select Investment Aim, Be Firm

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I'm a 34-year-old Army nurse with the rank of Captain. I've got into a mess as far as investing is concerned. In 1960 I bought Merck and Borden. Then I sold Borden and lost money speculating. I have a savings account and cash to invest. I'm out of the country frequently and can't watch the stock market. What shall Ido?"—J.E.

A. You have done very well in your profession and it shouldn't be too difficult to help you straighten out your position as regards investing. What you must do is decide on an objective: either growth, income or speculative gains. In your situation I would certainly choose growth and hold firmly to the aim. If you buy only consumer stocks in major companies, your chances of long-term risk are relatively slight. I advise you to hold your Merck and buy such issues as Consolidated Foods, Consumers Power and Warner-Lambert.

Q "Our investment club purchased 25 shares of Applied Technology (OTC) Aug. 8, 1966. I have been told that a 50 per cent stock dividend was paid Aug. 24. Our broker is holding only the 25 shares we bought. Will you advise us as to whether or not we should have additional 12 shares?"—W.L.

A. I am sorry to tell you that you are not entitled to the dividend to which you refer. This payment was made to stockholders of record Aug. 10, and the shares sold ex-dividend Aug. 5. The time interval is due to the fact that it requires four business days—excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays—to make delivery of a stock. Only purchases made on or prior to Monday, Aug. 4, carried the dividend. Those who bought after that date paid a price which had been adjusted downward by the market to reflect the payment.

January Sales

January sales of United States Savings Bonds in Marin County totaled $169,098, said volunteer county savings bonds chairman D. C. Davis.

Survey On Safety Urged For Novato

Novato should prepare a comprehensive transportation survey, study high accident intersections, increase its pavement markings and prohibit parking at all times along more arterial streets.

These are among recommendations of the National Safety Council presented in a 28-page report prepared at request of the Novato City Council.

The survey also recommended that a study be made to determine the need for increasing the staff on traffic engineering administration, surveys and investigations.

The council recommended that responsibility for the safety program in public schools be "assigned to a school person qualified to plan, organize and administer a comprehensive program of safety education."

Although there has not been a fatal traffic accident in Novato since 1962, injury accidents have gone up 75 per cent in the city, and property damage accidents 51 per cent, the report noted.

Novato was criticized for not having a citizen safety council. The report recommended that one be started to unify citizens' activity in traffic safety efforts.

Vina Del Mar Fete Next Week

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Tuesday that Sausalito's "Salute to Vina Del Mar" would be celebrated today and tomorrow at Sausalito schools.

The programs will be next Thursday at Central School and March 10 at Richardson Bay School.

A breakfast will be served Saturday at 9:45 a.m. at the Alta Mira Hotel. At noon, the 12th Naval District band from Treasure Island will present a concert in Vina Del Mar Plaza.

Many Floral Shows Set This Month

Blossoms and floral displays highlight the month of March in the colorful Redwood Empire.

Public events include the Songbirds Flower Show at Graton, west of Santa Rose, March 14-15; the annual 30 mile Prune Blossom Tour around Healdsburg, March 18-19; the Stockton Street-Union Square Flower Show in San Francisco, March 20-25; the 44-mile Easter Apple Blossom Tour at Sebastopol, starting March 25, with a camellia show in that community March 25-26; the annual Garden Club Primrose Tea at Inverness on March 29; and San Francisco's Ikebana show of Japanese floral art at Hall of Flowers in Golden Gate Park, March 31-April 2.

Unflowery affairs include the Clear Lake Fish Derby, which runs through June; the 29th annual Redwood Region Logging Conference at Crescent City, March 9-10; San Francisco's annual St. Patrick's Day Parade (the 12th, begorra); the Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition at the Cow Palace, March 18-21; weekend workshops at the Art Center in Mendocino, starting the 18th; and Easter Sunrise services on Mount Davidson and Mount Tamalpias, March 26.

Also the Marin Society of Artists' crafts show at the Art and Garden Center in Ross, March 5-26; and an Easter egg hunt at the Center, March 15-16.

Of special interest Saturday is the unique graduation ceremony at Guide Dogs for the Blind, 350 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael.

County Service Area Public Session Set

Directors of County Service Area Six, serving the Santa Venetia area and the Gallinas Canal development, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Civic Center in a session designed to inform the public on the service area's responsibilities and aims.

Also on the agenda is discussion of whether boat slips with covers should be allowed on the canal.

Joint Session Set On Youth Recreation

Members of Belvedere and Tiburon's Parks and Recreation Commissions and the Tiburon Peninsula Club will hold a joint meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Tiburon City Hall to discuss a community youth recreation program.

The Tiburon commission will also discuss a preliminary report from its landscaping committee and a request by Commissioner Joseph H. Bacheller III that the planning commission join in a discussion of the recreation group's policy for acquisition of public land for parks.

Meeting Canceled

The regular meeting today of Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club has been canceled because members are working on the Rhubarb Revue, reported club president Joe Allen. Next meeting will be in May, he said, after the revue.
